Dissension Among Operators Threatens To Bog Down Pay Negotiations.

(By International News Service)

BELLAIRE, O. — Almost 4,000 miners in the eastern Ohio bituminous coal fields today ignored the order of their union leader, John L. Lewis, to return to work and continued to strike.

The Willow Grove mine of the Hanna Coal company, employing 612, found its miners refusing to accept Lewis' telegram to end the walkout, insisting on a contract. Moreover, the local union voted to fine any member $5 a day if he goes back to work before the local says he may.

Most of the other affected local unions were to meet this afternoon to consider the Lewis telegram. Adolph Pacifico, UMW District 6 vice president, was to make a personal appeal to the miners at these meetings to abide by the order of the union national committee.

These six mines failed to work this morning: Powhatan Mining Co., 1,000 men; Florence and Barton Mines of Y. & O Coal Co., 430 and 380 men respectively; No. 6 of Rail and River Coal Co., 730; Blaine mine of Lorain Coal and Dock Co., 507, and Willow Grove, 612.

Only a partial shift reported for work at the Dunglen mine of the Hanna company, employing 600.

Pacifico said he hoped to persuade all of the locals to end the unauthorized strike and return to work by midnight.

C. of C. Committee To Hear Bromfield's Farm Plan.

When the Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee meets Tuesday evening to consider the farm labor shortage and plans to remedy the situation, Louis Bromfield, committee member, will outline his plan for using part time workers to help harvest the crops.

Bromfield believes that unless part-time workers can be found to help the farmers many of the Richland county crops will have to be left in the fields.

Meeting of the committee is scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms with Reese Mills, chairman in charge.

New Type Patrol Plane Gets Sub With Four Bombs.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The navy has disclosed that a Vega Ventura twin-engine patrol bomber piloted by Lieut. Thomas Kinaszcuk of Elizabeth, N. J., sank an enemy submarine in April by dropping one bomb on its conning tower and three others close to its hull.

Kinaszcuk's new-type navy bomber was protecting an Atlantic convoy when the enemy raider was spotted on the surface. The submarine attempted to crash dive but was blown to the surface.

Argentina Head

Gen. Pedro Ramirez, above, today took over the presidency of Argentina, the third president the nation has had in less than a week. He was named by Gen. Arturo Rawson, who held the presidency briefly, after the ouster of President Ramon Castillo. Rawson and Ramirez had been unable to agree on the constitution of a new cabinet.

CIGS FOR YANKS RESPONSE GOOD

Nickels, Dimes, Quarters Begin To Fill Collection Jars In Drive For $2,500.

Nickels, dimes, and quarters today made their way from Mansfielders' pockets into the 50 or more jars which have been placed by the American Legion auxiliary in business places to receive donations to the campaign to raise $2,500 to buy cigarets for the men in service overseas.

The auxiliary hopes to place these jars in more than 100 business places by the middle of the week, Mrs. J. Harvey Dickson, president, said today.

She said that Mansfielders are getting behind the campaign to buy 1,000,000 cigarets for the men overseas with fine spirit. Already five large contributions amounting to $375 show the interest of Mansfielders in buying "smokes for the Yanks."

Mrs. Donald Leuthner is heading the auxiliary campaign which has lined up lodges, businesses, and organizations solidly in favor of it.

In a whirl-wind four-day campaign in Peoria, Ill., carriers for the Peoria Journal-Transcript collected from subscribers enough money to buy an estimated 1,250,000 cigarets.

Blood Donor Plea Goes Out Again; List 100 Short

Mansfielders don't seem to be in any great hurry to donate their blood on Saturday, Red Cross registration officials found today when a check showed 100 donors short of the number needed to donate blood for that day.

The mobile unit will be in Mansfield Friday and Saturday, and while most of the Friday appointments have been scheduled there are a great many gaps in the Saturday schedule.

Mrs. William Layton and Mrs. Ephriam Brown, co-chairmen of the registration committee, said that according to registration figures the response has been much better from the rural regions and towns throughout the county than in Mansfield itself.

Those who have received cards are urged to call at Red Cross headquarters or return their cards indicating the time best for them to donate blood. The unit will be here from 1:45 to 5:45 p. m. Friday and from 10:45 a. m. to 2:45 p. m. on Saturday. It will be located at John Simpson junior high school on both days.

ILLNESS DELAYS TRIAL

Second Rapid Change Comes Soon After Dissolution of Nation's Congress.

BULLETIN

BUENOS AIRES —(U.P.)— Gen. Pedro Ramirez today formed a new revolutionary government with himself as president and with all posts tentatively filled by army and navy officers.

(By Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES—Gen. Arturo Rawson resigned as head of Argentina's new government today and charged Gen. Pedro Ramirez with organizing a new regime after the two revolutionary leaders had failed to agree on the constitution of a cabinet.

Gen. Domingo Martinez resigned as foreign minister in a continuation of the reshuffling of the provisional government cabinet.

Rawson, who ousted President Ramon S. Castillo in a coup d'etat last Friday, was to have been sworn in as president at noon today.

In a brief communique, he announced "the impossibility of reaching an agreement on the constitution of a new cabinet" had compelled him to resign "as leader of the revolutionary forces and chief of the provisional government."

At the same time Ramirez, minister of war under Castillo and slated to hold the same post under Rawson issued a statement advising the people and the armed forces he had assumed the powers abandoned by Rawson.

He also announced postponement of today's scheduled swearing-in ceremonies for which a national holiday had been decreed. There was no indication as to when the Ramirez administration might be sworn in.

The rapid change in Argentina's confusing political situation followed by only a few hours the issu-

Allies Pound Italy's Pantelleria Island

Allied bombers of the South African Air Force have been giving Pantelleria, Italy's tiny island fortress off the coast of Tunisia, a constant pounding since the fall of Tunisia. This photo, made during attack, shows the airfield on the island as columns of black smoke indicate two oil fires. Smoke of bursting bombs almost obscures the landing ground while at the far end of the airfield can be seen entrances to underground hangars and workshops on the side of the hill.

CITY SCHOOLS GET 'CLEAN BILL'

State Examiners Make Report on Examination; No Major Findings Made.

The Mansfield board of education had received a comparatively clean slate today from the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices with only minor findings listed in an examiner's report covering the period from Aug. 6, 1940 to Jan. 14, 1943.

Total unpaid findings listed in the bureau's report was $408 of which only $298 represented payments made or received illegally. Most of the findings were the result of misinterpretation of the state code governing school districts.

The largest unpaid finding was for $202, reported due the board from the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank for interest paid the bank illegally on notes which were permitted to run beyond the fiscal years of 1940 and 1941.

Findings amounting to $96

Child Lands in Soft Dirt—Neither Scared Nor Injured.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Unperturbed and uninjured after plunging 25 feet from a second story apartment window, 14-month-old Dennis Brondz today waited impatiently to be taken home from a Cleveland hospital.

The boy fell through a french window Sunday at an east side apartment and landed in soft dirt two stories below. Attendants at Glenville hospital where he was taken for overnight observation said that he apparently was unharmed by the fall.

COAL-SHY MILL FACES SHUTDOWN

Youngstown Steel Plant Has Shortage Of Fuel.

YOUNGSTOWN — (INS) — A possibility of a shutdown today threatened the Ohio works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company, as a result of the recent coal strikes throughout the nation.

Shortages were reported also at the Youngstown District Steel Mills and the Shenango Furnace company at Sharpsville, where one of the furnaces already has been banked. If its other furnace must be banked, hundreds of tons of war vital pig iron will be lost.

The Struthers Iron and Steel company reported having enough coke available for only a few days of operations.

ESCAPE COSTLY

O.S.R. Inmate, Free 11 Hours, Gets Additional 2 Years.

Eleven hours of freedom Sunday from the Mansfield reformatory cost Richard Schmidt, 23, an inmate, two more years in the institution.

Schmidt, who walked away from the reformatory dairy barn at 12:20 a. m. Sunday, was captured by guards about 11:30 a. m. yesterday near West Salem as he walked along a highway. His case was due for action by the parole board next October, Supt. A. L. Glattke said.

The youth entered the reformatory Nov. 19, 1942, under a one-to-15-year sentence for burglary and larceny. He was sentenced in Cuyahoga county.

COUNCIL OPENS BUDGET STUDY

Mayor To Submit Estimated Needs For Next Year at Session Tonight.

Mansfield operating budget requests totaling slightly less than $331,000 for 1944 were being studied today by Mayor W. J. Locke who said he expected to have them ready to submit to city council's finance committee at a special council meeting at 8 p. m. today.

The special session was called primarily for final action on the proposed $74,000 widening and resurfacing project involving Lexington avenue (U. S. Route 42) and South Main street (State Route 13).

The mayor said minor changes bringing reduction of approximately $400 had been made today in the tentative budget figure and other revisions probably will be made by the council

Berea Chief Suspects Arson In Two Blazes.

CLEVELAND (INS) — Finding evidence indicating arson, Fire Chief John C. Nevel of Berea today investigated fires in two nearly completed homes for war workers which occurred Sunday night.

Nevel reported finding a five-gallon can containing gasoline and oil in one of the two dwellings being built by Garden Homes, incorporated at Berea.

British Writer Finds Bricker Opposed To Post-War 'League'

(By Associated Press)

LONDON The Evening Standard published today a dispatch by F. G. A. Cook, its United States correspondent, in which he quoted Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio as telling him in an interview that he was opposed to a post-war league of nations and in international armed force.

Cook's account in the Standard, one of Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers, described Bricker — who has been mentioned as a presidential possibility—as having the reputation of a man whose opinions are informed and declared "certainly he is cautious when world affairs come up for discussion, but he is frank about the reason."

"I just don't know enough," he quoted Bricker as saying. Cook added: "One thing at least Mr. Bricker will talk about. He is inflexibly opposed to any form of an international armed force. A navy bigger than Britain's? An army bigger than Russia's? He just smiles."

(At Columbus, Bricker declared Cook's story was not correct.

"Those are not my words," the governor said. "They are strictly those of the writer, to whom I did not give any direct quotations. I did have an interview with Mr. Cook during which no notes were taken. It was just a conversation and the language of Mr. Cook's story was made up by him.")

Cook's story said Bricker suggested that there is danger that

Americans Hit Rail and Ferry Junctions Hard

Pantelleria, Duce's Gibraltar, Again Hammered From Air And Sea; Sicily And Mainland Also Feel Fury On Non-Stop Allied Attack.

BULLETIN

MOSCOW—(INS)—The Moscow radio broadcast a rumor today that the famous St. Gothard railway tunnel running beneath the Alps and connecting Switzerland with Italy has been damaged by an explosion.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—Hitting from two directions, U. S. airmen smashed rail and ferry facilities on both sides of Messina strait at the toe of the Italian boot, and pounded Pantelleria again, yesterday, following up Saturday's smashing attack on the Italian fleet at La Spezia.

At least eight of a formation of more than 30 fighter planes which attempted to intercept American heavy bombers of the Middle East command which raided San Giovanni, Reggio Calabria and Messina, were shot down and others were damaged, a Cairo communique said.

Hits were scored on railway sidings, oil installations and other terminal facilities, the communique declared.

RAF fighters also shot down two three-engined heavy bombers, in the eastern Mediterranean yesterday, it was announced. No Allied planes were lost.

(The Italian communique asserted an Allied submarine was sunk by the Royal Italian navy in the Mediterranean.

(The Italians also said their fighter planes brought down four four-engined bombers and anti-aircraft guns downed a fifth in the Allied raids on Messina, Reggio Calabria and other localities on the Messina strait. They acknowledged further bombing of Pantelleria.

(In the Panatelleria raids, the Italians asserted seven Allied planes were brought down by their fighters and anti-aircraft guns. They said German fighter planes brought down two other bombers south of Sicily and a Spitfire near Lampedusa island. Three Italian planes were lost, it was said.

(Another Rome radio broadcast said 50 were killed and seven injured in the vicinity of Reggio Calabria.)

The aerial softening-of-tiny Pantelleria continued after daylight plane attacks Saturday which, in turn, had followed a dawn bombardment by the British navy — the fifth time in seven days its guns had thun-

POWER: U. S. Air Force In Britain Strongly Reinforced

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — The Eighth U. S. army air force was expanded today by the arrival of another large contingent of airmen and equipment, and already-feverish invasion speculation was heightened by Prime Minister Churchill's continuing round of conferences believed to bear directly on the Washington war strategy meeting and his visit to North Africa.

For military reasons the strength of the U. S. air unit was kept secret, but it is known bombers and their crews have streamed across the Atlantic as the weather improved and that ground personnel, bombs and other equipment have been arriving regularly.

The lull in the aerial onslaught to soften Europe for land invasion continued into its ninth day. The last heavy raids were May 29, when U. S. fliers hammered Rennes and St. Nazaire and the RAF smashed at Wuppertal.

Bad weather over the continent was given as the reason for the lay-off, although there was some speculation the heavy bombers had shifted to the Mediterranean area for concentrated action on that potential invasion front. The Daily Mail said the RAF had a new bombing policy—giant raids aimed at obliterating a large industrial center in a single night.

The RAF struck at channel shipping and French coastal districts Sunday and Nazi fighter-bombers hit at a southeast coastal

TROUBLE: Nimitz Back In U. S. To Brew Grief For Japanese

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Heavy bombing raids on the Japanese at Kiska in the Aleutians were reported by the navy today in a communique which told also of the bombing of Munda on New Georgia island and enemy positions on Choiseul island in the Solomons.

BULLETIN

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — (AP) — Rear Admiral Theodore Wilkinson, deputy commander of the south Pacific area, disclosed today that a large body of United States troops recently came directly to New Zealand from the United States and is undergoing intensive training alongside veterans from Guadalcanal preparatory to being sent to a combat zone.

(By Associated Press)

The latest in a world-wide series of United Nations strategy conferences has brought Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific fleet, to the American mainland and it means trouble for the Japanese.

The admiral disclosed his return from Hawaii yesterday in a speech at Berkeley, Calif., remarking that he "had a job to do."

It concerned a conference which he said he hoped would "carry trouble to the Japanese."

He did not elaborate, but declared that U. S. planes and ships in the Pacific by the end of the year would be a "very formidable force" and that the Pacific arena was getting its share of U. S. men and materials.

"We are turning out planes and ships of war faster than the Japanese can," he said. "It is simple arithmetic — subtraction for them and addition for us."

The admiral's statement coincided with new outbursts of action in both the south and north Pacific.

In the Solomons American dive and torpedo bombers sank a Japanese destroyer, set fire to a cargo ship and a Corvette and shot down 15 Zeros in air battle off Bougainville island, the navy announced yesterday. Four American planes were lost.

The Japanese version, given by the Tokyo radio today, claimed 20 Allied planes were shot down in the encounter.

In the north Pacific, the navy told of resumption of intensive air attacks on the Japanese base of Kiska in the Aleutians. Kiska was under air assault five times Friday, the communique said.

In the Australian theater, 18 Japanese dive bombers and four

ROBERTA ANN LEMLEY REVEALS ENGAGEMENT

Lovely Party Given At Home of Bride-Elect's Parents to Announce Betrothal; Wedding Date of Couple Has Not Been Set.

FRIENDS of Miss Roberta Ann Lemley, 516 Heineman boulevard, learned of her engagement, Sunday night, at a lovely party given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Lemley. Miss Lemley is the bride-elect of Lt. Walter C. Becker, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Becker, 804 Andover road.

The engagement was revealed when luncheon was served at a long table attractively decorated. The refreshment table had an extremely clever and novel centerpiece. A crystal cylinder in a huge crystal bowl was surrounded by roses and gardenias. From the cylinder, by chemical means, bounced small crystal balls containing the engaged couple's names.

Tiny scrolls in individual gardenia corsages for the guests told of the engagement.

During the evening cards were in session. Prizes awarded to winners of high scores were presented to the honoree.

The bride-elect is in business with her father at the Lemley Dry Cleaning company. Before entering the armed forces, Pvt. Becker was employed at the Ohio Brass company. He is now stationed at Indiantowngap, Pa.

A definite date has not been set for the wedding.

"I did not say that," he said, "although there is a distinct probability now that I may be able to let her off the whole miserable business. But one thing is certain. She will not have to see her tonight."

I longed to fly to Katharine with the news, but I forced myself to sit still.

"Just a minute," he said, and rising, went to the door and opened it. 'Will you please come here a minute?" he said, and the next instant Adams came through the door, greeted me with grave courtesy, and stood awaiting my father's instructions.

"You may put that mapping aside for the present," he said. "Get busy on this. I want you to find a telegraph station manager who will be willing to cooperate with us on something which will not get him into trouble. Tell him to send a telegraph messenger over to me here for instruction, who can go to a certain address at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning.

"He need not send him for another two hours," my father went on. "I have some work to do first which will keep me away from here. And when you have completed your errand, come back to your mapping. Better give all your papers to Mrs. Graham. She will lock them up in her own desk for safekeeping, and give them to you again when you come back. I don't want to risk having Milner come into that suite. He's altogether too omnipresent, but thank Heaven his time is short."

Adams looked as if he would like to echo the thanksgiving, and I reflected once more how difficult must be his job of pretending to be Milner's confidential man when, in reality, he was one of my father's most trusted agents.

"I'll get the papers immediately, sir," he said, and my father did not speak again until Adams had returned with the papers, handed them to me and left the suite.

Then he said slowly: "I shall have to ask Olina to go through with that performance tomorrow."

Shower Honors Recent Bride At Stevenson Home

Mrs. Fred Miller, jr., nee Olga Luich, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Glenn H. Stevenson and the Misses Katherine Miller and Barbara Lehman at the former's home.

During the evening, games were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Pete Miller and Mrs. Peter Rebel. They presented their prizes to the honoree.

When luncheon was served to the fourteen guests, individual favors, which were given the guests, contained poems written on tiny scrolls, telling Mrs. Miller where her gifts were to be found.

Luncheon was served buffet style from a long table, decorated with yellow tapers, and a centerpiece of purple pansies floating in crystal swans, on a mirror.

Gives Recipe For Greens With Rice

By BETSY NEWMAN

If you cannot get your family to eat their spinach or other greens plain, you might try serving them with rice.

Today's Menu.

Lamb Chops Greens with Rice
Carrot, Radish, Green Onion, Lettuce Salad
Lemon Milk Sherbet Iced Tea

Greens With Rice.

2 tablespoons fat
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
2 cup chopped cooked greens
1 clove garlic, peeled
1 cup cooked rice
Salt, pepper

Melt fat in heavy frying pan, add onion and garlic, and cook over medium heat for 3 minutes. Remove garlic, stir in greens and rice, heat and season to taste with salt and pepper. Serves 6.

Lemon Milk Sherbet.

1 teaspoon plain gelatin
1 qt. milk
1 cup sugar
Salt
Juice of 3 lemons

Soak gelatin in ½ cup milk for about 5 minutes; dissolve over hot water and add to remainder of milk. Mix lemon juice and sugar add slowly to milk mixture, and freeze. For a richer sherbet use half cream and half milk. Serves 8.

The hours we pass with happy prospects in view are more pleasing than those crowded with fruition.—Goldsmith.

BEFORE AND AFTER IN MILADY'S WARTIME WARDROBE

LADIES, HERE IS WHAT you can and cannot have in the way of new dresses under the new wartime restrictions on dress materials. Announce Betrothal At Sunday Afternoon Tea

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, Saxton road, announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Smith, to Charles Wilcox of Corning, New York, at a tea Sunday afternoon.

Fifteen friends were present for the tea. The refreshment table was decorated with white flowers and greens. The date of the coming marriage, June 26, was on a silver ribbon lying across the table. Mrs. Edward Smith, jr., sister-in-law of the bride-elect, presided at the table. She was assisted by Mrs. Frieda Lutz and Mrs. Anna Marshall, Miss Smith's aunts.

Miss Smith and Mr. Wilcox will exchange nutpial vows in an open church ceremony at the First Lutheran church at 2:30 on Saturday, June 26. Rev. Richard Smith, brother of the bride-to-be, and Rev. Grover Swoyer will officiate.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school and Wittenberg college. Mr. Wilcox is a graduate of Wittenberg college and University of Michigan.

SHOWS MEN HOW MACHINE WORKS

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—(U.P.)—The war has brought many changes to men and machines. And now, in reversed order, Sarah Trotsky, employed in one of the General Electric company's New England plants, is instructing men in the operation of complex milling machines.

A veteran of 30 years experience in running lathes, drills and similar machines, Miss Trotsky operates a milling machine, turning out precision instruments for war products. She teaches inexperienced men workers to operate the machine on the second and third shifts at the plant, while she works the daytime shift.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, June 8.

The astral indications are for a rather progressive and productive day with many ambitions advanced by diligence. It has an enduring aspect that might express itself in gifts, endowments or other tokens of continued interest. Merit and sterling qualities should assure worthwhile recognition.

Those whose birthday it is may have a progressive and productive year in which their affairs and fortunes may be expected to be placed upon a stable and enduring basis. Industry, application, sound principles and practical technique may attract the generous support of those in power. There is a possibility of gifts, trusts, inheritance or other symbols of recognition and preferment, shared by the social as well as business appreciation of merit.

A child born on this day may possess sturdy and stable talents and personal principles, attracting the substantial appreciation and financial support of those in place and power. Both social and business stability are assured.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

MORE CASES COVERED

There is no question about the new Laws of Contract Bridge covering more different kinds of irregularities than the old ones, and doing the job well, so that greater equity is established. Clear-cut logic is applied to these matters:

1. Reviewing the auction. Before the auction is closed, any player (unless he is by law obligated to pass) may ask the opponents to restate previous calls, but only when it is his turn to call. After the auction is closed, but before the opening lead, the declarer or a defender may ask the opponents to restate previous calls. If any player during the auction, or a defender, after it has closed, discloses that he has made a call based on a misconception of a previous call, this is treated as a remark giving information about his hand, and so penalized. Prior to the opening lead, the dummy may reply to a defender's restatement request and should correct errors in restatement, but may not ask to have calls restated. The opening lead should be deferred until any request for restatement has been complied with. After the opening lead, declarer or a defender may be informed only what the contract is and whether, but not by whom, it was doubled or redoubled.

2. Facing of the dummy hand should come after the opening lead, the law providing that trumps should be placed by the dummy at his right.

3. Taking back a card which has been played is something which may not be done except to correct certain irregularities, such as a revoke, playing twice to a trick, etc.

4. A card is deemed to have been played from declarer's hand when the card touches the table after being detached from his remaining cards with apparent intent to play; from dummy (or from declarer's own hand if he has faced it) when he names or touches it, unless for a purpose other than play either manifest or mentioned by him, from either declarer's or dummy's hand when named by him as the one he proposes to play; by a defender when his partner sees its face after it has been detached from his remaining cards with apparent intent to play, when it is named by him as one he proposes to play, or, if his hand is faced, when he names or touches it unless for a purpose other than play either manifest or mentioned by him.

SOLDIERS HELD IN SLAYING OF WOMAN WRITER

Divorcee Found Dead In Room of Cottage; Suspect Tells of Drinking Party.

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES — Military police today held two youthful army privates for questioning in connection with the murder of Wilma Carnes Wilson, 31, redheaded divorcee, author and one-time actress.

The nude body of Mrs. Wilson was found in the blood-spattered bedroom of her cottage at nearby Hermosa beach. Police said she had been brutally beaten on the head and chest. Liquor bottles were strewn about the premises, police said.

Held for investigation was Pvt. Michael Strignano, 22, atached to a coast artillery company. A companion, Pvt. Charles J. Mokos, was in custody as a material witness.

The two soldiers told authorities they had met the atractive divorcee—author of the novel, "Call Them Camisoles"—at a Hermosa beach cocktail lounge last Thursday afternoon.

"After a number of drinks we accompanied her to her home for more liquor," Mokos told R. T. Hopkinson of the Los Angeles sheriff's office.

"While I was in the kitchen," Mokos said, "I heard a loud slap. I went into the bedroom. Strignano and Mrs. Wilson were there. Her nose bleeding. I tried to get Strignano to leave but he refused. I left them both in the bedroom about 4:30 a. m."

Strignano denied the beating.

Military authorities meanwhile launched a search for the owner of a service cap found at Mrs. Wilson's home. The cap bore army serial numbers which did not correspond to the numbers of Strignano or Mokos.

O'DANIEL WARNS ON DICTATORSHIP

Senator Says Washington's Full of Czars Who Must Be Cleaned Out.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Senator O'Daniel (D., Tex.) expressed the belief today that high federal authorities were carrying out a plan for "a dictatorship, and regimentation of our people" and declared that "a big house cleaning of elected officials" was necessary to save the nation.

He set forth his views in a letter to South Texas Poultry Raisers who had pleaded for an increase in price ceilings on broilers.

After reporting that he had conferred with "these Washington czars and bureaucrats," he said: "The only way to save our nation, if it can be saved at this late hour, is for the people to make a big house cleaning of elected officials of our federal government, and put men in office who believe in our constitution and our American system of private enterprise and who will not only make speeches favoring it, but will vote the same way they talk."

"I never in my life saw as much deceit and deception per square inch anywhere else as there is here in the nation's capital."

The OPA set a price ceiling of 27½ cents a pound on South Texas broilers. The growers are seeking an increase of three cents per pound, contending that because of increased feed and labor costs they are losing money under present regulations.

CITY SCHOOLS GET 'CLEAN BILL'

State Examiners Make Report on Examination; No Major Findings Made.

against board members and Clerk John H. Eisaman were returned by the examiner for the alleged illegal expenditure of school funds for the dedication ceremonies at John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed junior high schools three years ago and the purchase of perfect attendance certificates for pupils at a cost of $8.

Dedication cards, programs, and flowers were included in the items purchased with school funds for the ceremonies at the opening of the two new junior high schools.

Examiner T. V. Withers, who inspected the school records said there was nothing in the state code permitting the use of public funds for such ceremonies or for cards honoring only a few pupils.

Examiner Withers recommended in his report that the board clerk deposit receipts from the high school cafeterias rather than continue permitting Mrs. Frances B. Hypes, cafeteria manager, to deposit the funds in the name of the board. The state law provides that only the clerk can deposit funds in the school board's account, the examiner pointed out.

It was further recomended that a special section of the board's cash journal be devoted to the Brinkerhoff trust fund which provides for the payment of prizes to schools and pupils who grow gardens.

The examiner urged the board of education to pass a resolution relieving Clerk Eisaman of liability for the loss of $90.75 in a school safe robbery April 21, 1911, "if it be the intention of the board to relieve him of this liability."

Records showed that Eisaman reported the robbery to the board members, but no action was taken at the time by the board to relieve him of responsibility for the unavoidable loss. The safe in the clerk's office was blown open and the money, most of it school funds, was taken.

READY TO DROP PRIMARY VOTE

G. O. P. Committee Resolution Would Eliminate Election If There Are No Races.

Mansfield members of the Richland county Republican executive committee today, asked for the elimination of the August primary this year if the absence of party contest makes it possible.

Meeting in special session shortly before noon at the courthouse, committee members voted the resolution which will be presented to the county election board. With the approval of the secretary of state the election board may call off the primary if there are no party contests.

Ralph Hardy, chairman of the G. O. P. committee, said elimination of the primary would save money for the city and county and the Republican committee which then would have no reason to expend money for a campaign.

Hardy said the committee members discussed possible candidates for the six offices now held by Democrats but reached no decision on candidates.

He indicated the party might not be able to fill the municipal ticket by the filing deadline next Friday night. If all G. O. P. incumbents seek re-election, as expected, the Republicans still must find candidates for city auditor, treasurer, solicitor, council president and councilmen in the Fourth and Fifth wards. Democrats hold those jobs now.

No one had filed today with the election board for any city offices although Mayor W. J. Locke and Councilman George C. Kyle, Republicans, and City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner, and Treasurer Earle K. Troll, Democrats, have announced their candidates for re-election.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Retired Greenwich Farmer Stricken at Shelby.

SHELBY—A retired farmer, Milton L. Cadwell, 66, formerly of Greenwich, died Sunday at his home here. He had been ill for the past year.

Surviving are his widow, Blanche; three sons, Wilbur, Canton; Ralph, Mansfield; and Clarence, Shelby; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Myers, Plymouth; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Arthur Cain, Shelby; a stepson, Clover Cadwell, Portland, Ore.; two brothers, Luther, Holbrook, Ariz.; and Stacey, Roscoe, Cal.; 11 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The body was removed to the Barkdull funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

Research Shows Sulfanilamide Checks Leprosy

CHICAGO—(INS)—Research conducted at the School of Tropical Medicine, San Juan, Puerto Rico, indicated that although sulfanilamide will check the development of leprosy in mice and rats it will not cure the disease.

Albino rats and white mice injected with leproma were used by Cecil Krakower, Pablo Morales-Otero and Joseph H. Axtmayer, who reported their findings in the Journal of Infectious Diseases, published by the University of Chicago.

The experimenters fed the animals one per cent sulfanilamide in their daily diet and found they were able to inhibit entirely the development of the disease, although they were unable to destroy the bacilli or alter their virulence.

It was found therefore that although treatment with sulfanilamide would arrest the disease there was no evidence from the experiments that the drug was able to kill the bacilli of leprosy as had been hoped. The disease would extend at a much slower rate, however, in treated animals than in those who were left without the sulfanilamide.

'RUBBER CHECK' GOOD NAME FOR THIS FLYING FORTRESS

(By International News Service)

A. U. S. FLYING FORTRESS STATION, England—The faint purring sound grew louder and louder as the dense cloud of tiny black spots in the blue English sky grew larger.

The four young lieutenants who had been tensely straining their eyes and ears for the first sight and sound of the returning "Forts" began to feverishly count the big black bombers returning from German-held France.

"They're all back," shouted First Lieut. Keith Conley, of Portage, Utah as his count reached a certain figure. His three companions drew audible breaths of relief.

Overhead the majestic bombers swept by in swift flight, disregarding the vast and inviting green landing field.

"Must be from another field," said Second Lieut. Lindsay Roger, 133 Fenno St., Revere, Mass., with obvious disappointment in his voice.

Time after time approaching units of Forts swept unhesitatingly by, high over head, and with each succeeding groups passing, the tenseness of the young officers became greater.

At last, one unit began to circle the field. A quick count showed that his unit, too was returning all its valuable aircraft and priceless crews to our station.

With field glasses glued to his eyes, Second Lt. I. J. Klette, 56 Ward street, Rockville, Conn., excitedly called off identifying numbers of the big bombers.

With only three of the air giants remaining aloft he let out an excited whoop "It's old 524 boys. It's her. The old gal is a veteran now."

The "old 524" had just made her maiden bombing flight into Germany, and the four young officers who evinced such interest in her had just brought her over from America, turned her over to her new crew, watched her lift her load to death and destruction into the air and wing speedily away to "bring the fear of God to Hitler." Now, they welcomed her back.

Lieut. Conley piloted the ship from America to England, with Lieut. Roger as bombardier, Lieut. Klette as co-pilot. Lieut. K. B. Vavedo, of Richmond, Va., plotted their course and navigated the 524 to a pin point of land in the sea thousands of miles away.

The four young officers have been assigned to this bomber command. Tonight their most fervent hope is that when the 524 again wings her way over the enemy, they will be in the places they occupied on the long flight across oceans and continents to bring her here.

If their luck holds, they will name the big ship "Rubber Check," for rubber checks "always bounce back," they say.

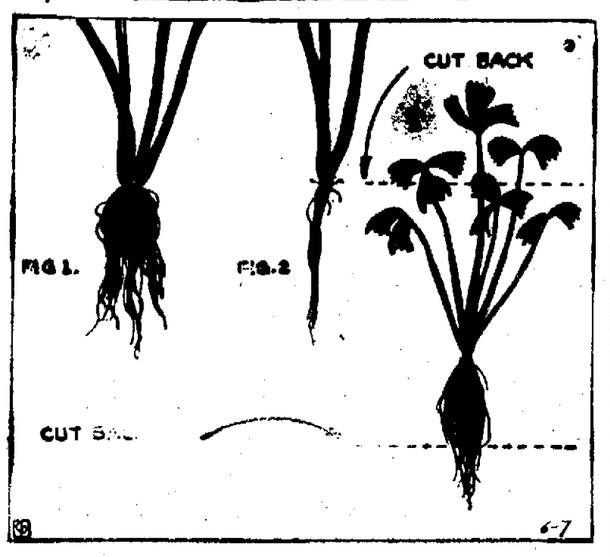
Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



So You Want to Grow Your Own Celery In Victory Garden.

Released by Central Press Ass'n.

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Many Victory gardeners wonder if they can grow their own celery. It can be done and successfully if the gardener is willing to take extra pains with his plants.

Delicious celery can be grown successfully in the average Victory garden providing it has rich soil and lots of moisture as well as careful handling for the purpose of blanching.

It is advisable, however, for the average Victory gardener to buy celery plants ready to be set out in the garden. Celery seed germinates slowly and the young plants should be transplanted at least twice before setting out. The transplantings retard growth but help to develop a bushy root system, as illustrated in Figure 1 of the accompanying Garden-Graph, instead of the long tap root shown in Figure 2.

When planting celery plants prune the roots leaving only two or three inches long, and, as illustrated, also cut back the tops of the plants about one-third to check excessive evaporation while the roots are becoming established.

Be careful not to let the roots dry out and set the plants a little deeper than they formerly stood. During transplanting and later when cultivating take care not to get any soil between the stalks or into the heart of the plant.

EX-CLEVELANDER NAMED HEAD OF MOTHER SCIENTIST CHURCH

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON — The Christian Science board of directors today announced the election of Mrs. Daisette D. S. McKenzie of Cambridge as president of the mother church and, in a statement to the annual meeting, placed prayer at the top of the list of defensive-offensive weapons that free-thinking peoples are counting upon to win the global war against oppression and suppression.

Mrs. McKenzie, who once was a reader and member of the board of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Cleveland, will hold the presidency of the mother church for the ensuing year, succeeding Mrs. Elisabeth [illegible] Hood of Brookline.

Thousands of persons attending the meeting heard the board of directors' statement declaring "a praying people can never suffer defeat." The "miracle of deliverance," the board declared, was to be accepted as the logical answer to righteous prayer.

"Battles are not won," the statement continued, "through trust alone, but through intelligent, scientific preparation and skillful execution. As we reach out to God through understanding prayer, the human footsteps to bring our deliverance from this cruel warfare will be revealed."

Arthur W. Eckman, manager of the committees on publication, reported that state, provincial and national legislative bodies had dealt fairly with Christian Science activities. But he cautioned that there was an increasing tendency in legislative halls to impose blanket regulations involving compulsory sickness, disability and hospital insurance which would bring about indirect compulsion upon Christian Scientists to accept medical treatment.

SEVEN FINED ON TRAFFIC COUNTS

One Motorist Gets $50 Fine on Charge of Driving Car While Intoxicated.

Seven motorists were arrested for traffic violation charges over the week-end, four on charges of speeding, one for driving his automobile on the wrong side of the road, one for failing to yield the right-of-way and another for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Floyd C. Olney, Lucas, R. D. 1, was fined $50 and costs in Mansfield municipal court this morning after he was arrested last night by city police on a charge of operating his automobile while under the influence of alcohol.

Pearley Thompson, 238 North Main street, was cited to appear in municipal court this morning to answer a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way on East Sixth street. Thompson did not appear.

Jay T. Prosser, 191 East Fourth street, was cited to appear in municipal court Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. on charges of driving his car on the wrong side of the highway. He was arrested Saturday on State Route 39.

Vincent J. McMullen, Marion, Fritz O. Ickert, Mansfield R. D. 5, Robert G. Quinn, Franklin, Pa., and Ivan C. Webster, Dixon, all signed waivers and posted $16.30 in municipal court on charges of speeding on U. S. Route 42 Saturday.

Survey Shows Excellent Job By Handicapped

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The steadily rising number of physically handicapped men and women now earning a good living in war industries gives promise of a secure future for disabled veterans of World War II, Mary Anderson of the Labor department believes.

Miss Anderson said a survey of the Eastern industrial area showed that employers have hired many blind, deaf and crippled workers whose performance has been not only satisfactory but outstandingly excellent.

The wartime manpower, shortage, Miss Anderson said, has broken down employer reluctance to hire incapacitated persons and this fact, she suggested, bodes good for disabled veterans.

There are many fields in which disabled individuals can function normally, Miss Anderson added, such as adjustment of small instrument parts, inspection and checking. The deaf or hard-of-hearing can operate machines, and sufferers from cardiac trouble can do office work.

Miss Anderson cited the case of midgets who crawl into airplane wings to do work which otherwise would require tearing out a large part of the plane. She told how seeing-eye dogs aid blind workers in one plant included in the survey.

Rev. A. J. Payne, pastor of Shiloh Baptist, was chosen vice president, succeeding Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, and Rev. James L. Boyer, pastor of United Brethren church, was named secretary-treasurer, succeeding Rev. Roland L. Showalter. These offices are for one year terms.

BUILDS CAMP ON HIGH SWAMP

CAMP HALE, Colo.—(U.P.)— Army engineers in the space of seven months have converted a railroad station, two houses and an icehouse overlooking a subarctic flat knee-deep in slush into a great military cantonment which will serve as headquarters for Uncle Sam's mountain infantry.

The building of two-mile-high Camp Hale, say army men, is a construction miracle equal to any of the war.

Preliminary work included covering the swamp-flat with two million cubic yards of earth gouged from nearby hillsides to form a base for later construction. Workmen changed the channel of a river and re-routed and rebuilt a main highway. Although some finishing touches must yet be added, the job of building the camp nearly 10,000 feet up in the Colorado high country had been finished before the deadline of winter.

NURSES TO HEAR HOSPITAL HEAD TUESDAY NIGHT

Commencement Exercises To Be Held at Church For Class of 19 Graduates.

Dr. Fred G. Carter, superintendent of St. Luke's hospital, Cleveland, will be principal speaker at the commencement exercises of the graduating class of Mansfield General Hospital School of Nursing tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. at St. Luke's Lutheran church.

The program will open with the prelude, Hymn of Praise, followed by the processional march by the graduates.

Rev. C. A. Portz will give the invocational address. Following Dr. Carter's talk, Dr. W. E. Wygant, president of the hospital medical staff, will speak.

The class will be presented for graduation by Miriam L. Keller, science instructor.

Presentation of diplomas will be made by C. H. Huston, former common pleas judge. Mabel F. Selfe, director of nurses, will award the 19 graduates with class pins.

The program will close with the benediction by Rev. Portz and the recessional march.

More than 200 attended the baccalaureate service for the class last night at Grace Episcopal church.

Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, rector, was the speaker. Rev. Lewis commended the girls for entering the nursing field by saying "It is not easy today to hold a religious faith. The forces that are at work are anti-christian. You girls should be commended for entering this service under such conditions."

Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, hospital superintendent, gave the Scripture reading which was followed by Rev. Lewis talk.

CLEARS ROAD WITH MAGNET

ROMULUS, N. Y.—(U.P.)—W. Q. Arthur D. Elliott has solved the puncture problem here at the Seneca Ordnance depot by having a road magnate take thousands of nails off the highways on the government reservation.

The first two days the magnet was put to use it picked up 700 pounds of nails. These were pulled out of crates in the unpacking of supplies that arrived at the depot.

Previously, punctures from nails ranged as high as 90 a day. Now they are almost nil, said Colonel Elliott. A proportionate saving in tires has resulted.

It looked like the good old days at Coolridge golf course Saturday with cars parked all over the place, and the links jammed with three foursomes on every fairway. Yep, just like the good old pre-war days.

The Westinghouse Foremen's club was holding its annual outing, and the cars parked there didn't represent gasoline waste, but rather gasoline saving. Usually the club has its picnic at some nearby town, but stayed home this year to save gas.

The golf was strictly for fun, climaxed with a croquet layout on the ninth green which had to be toured before holing out. Tees hidden on the line of putt from wicket to wicket presented a further handicap.

They used a mallet with a limber leather handle to drive off the first tee, which didn't get them off to a rousing start.

And they didn't get any encouragment from the loud speaker at the starter's stand.

As one group of golfers swung away energetically in the rough at the bottom of the hill off No. 1 tee, the speaker blared: "What are you doing down there, making a garden?"

* * *

Bomber Pilot Bob Spear, former News-Journal city tennis champion, is quoted as saying that if he ever goes flying over Europe, he'd like to have former Mansfield tennis player Johnny Foltz as navigator.

Reason — Johnny's passing grade is still high for his camp.

Spear and Bombardier Joe Atton, Mansfield baseball, softball and basketball figure, got together for a bit of pow-wow in camp the other day, so I hear. Now if all three could get together they'd have the nucleus of a crew to drop an extra special message on Berlin from Mansfield.

Dick Maxwell can't figure out what's come over his brother, Dr. Frank Maxwell, former part owner of the Mansfield Braves, who's been stationed at Honolulu base hospital for more than a year now.

"Doc used to play a lot of tennis," Dick explains, "but he gave it up 10 years ago, saying he had to save the heartbeat, and took up golf. But in his letters he talks about playing a lot of tennis at the officer's club and never a word about golf."

Perhaps Doc felt he had conserved enough heartbeat in 10 years to let him lay down the niblick and pick up the racquet again. Maybe I could putt better with a racquet, at that. Though a broom would seem a more effective instrument.

Note to Mansfield high school trackmen: You can get your track letters anytime now by calling at the Harry Mehock menage, 99 Glenwood boulevard.

Tyger track Tutor Mehock reports the monograms arrived Saturday, and he doesn't know any better way to distribute them than to have the boys come after them.

OUTFIELDER BOUGHT BY CINCINNATI REDS

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Dain Clay, 23-year-old outfielder obtained by the Cincinnati Reds yesterday in a deal with Bil Cox owner of the Philadelphia Phillies will join the Reds when they open a four game series with the Chicago Cubs in the Windy City Friday, Redleg general manager Warren C. Giles said today.

Giles announced he traded Charlie Brewster reserve infielder for Clay. Hitting about 280 this year for Rochester in the International League, Clay was traded to the Phils last week along with Coaker Triplett and Buster Adams by the Cardinal organization in exchange for Danny Litschuler and Earl Naylor.

NO TIME TO QUIT SAYS VETERAN, 90

OXFORD—(AP)—Danny Carver, veteran custodian of Miami university's athletic fields, is 90 years old today.

Danny said the only celebration he planned was "work as usual." Asked if he had considered retiring, he replied saucily:

"With the country at war and manpower so scarce, this is no time to quit!"

Shortstop Worries Bother Brooklyn Bums

Drop From First Place Blamed On Bobbles At That Position.

By JUDSON BAILEY

THE Brooklyn Dodgers are out of first place and in a dither. The curious club which led the National league from the start of the season until last week-end, when it slipped into the shadow of the St. Louis Cardinals, is afflicted with a malady known as acute sensitivity of the shortstop.

This has been a sore spot all the while the Dodgers have been stumbling through the west. Manager Leo Durocher has remained on the active list this season presumably just to step into situations such as this, yet has not played a single game this season.

In recent days he has shuffled Arky Vaughan, rookie Boyd Bartley and Reserve Catcher Bob Bragan in and out of the job with no credit to anyone. Yesterday the Dodgers managed to beat the Chicago Cubs in the first game of a doubleheader, but were shellacked 11-5 in the nightcap by misadventures by Bartley and Bragan, sharing the shortstop role.

In the first game Whit Wyatt held the Bruins to four hits in 7 1-3 innings but was removed with the score tied at 3-3 after all the Chicago counters had been scored on Dom Dallessandro's triple with the bases loaded in the first inning. Max Macon, who took Wyatt's place, allowed only one hit thereafter and in the 11th inning himself singled home the deciding run for a 4-3 victory.

Meanwhile weather limited the Cardinals' game with the Phillies to five innings and a 1-1 tie. Their second game was postponed.

Weather also forced postponement of the Boston Braves' second game at Cincinnati, but the two teams got in a 14-inning opener which the Reds finally won, 4-3.

In the other National league action Pittsburgh made 25 runs to the New York Giants' one in sweeping a doubleheader, 18-1 and 7-0.

The New York Yankees preserved their margin in front of the American league with a pair of victories over the St. Louis Browns, 2-1 in 11 innings and 10-6.

Washington's second place Senators, a game behind New York, won twice from Detroit, 5-1 and 8-4.

Boston's Red Sox nosed out Chicago twice 4-3 and 3-2 with ninth-inning rallies and Cleveland divided a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The week-end skirmishing ended the intersectional round in the two leagues and all clubs will be idle today and tomorrow except Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, which are billed for a night game tonight on the Pirates' grounds.

Legion Wins In 9th Frame

Athletic Supplies Swamp Yuncker Club.

They are beginning to play some interesting baseball in the Commercial diamond loop.

Yesterday after East Side Merchants had tied the score at 4-4 with a run in the first half of the ninth inning, American Legion came back with the winning marker with two out in the last half of the same frame.

* * *

League-leading Athletic Supplies romped over Yunckers 14-3 in the other game which saw two of Uncle Sam's sailors in action. Home on leave, Willard Lockhart and Kenny Krupp donned baseball togs and got back in the home town sports swing again.

Aided by five Yuncker errors Athletics got away to a 10-run start in the first inning.

Stars Entered In A. A. U. Track Meet

Harold Davis . . . Mr. Bullet."

Boyd Brown . . . four-time winner.

* * * * * *

By WALTER L. JOHNS
(Central Press Sports Writer)

Track and field finale of the season, the 55th annual National A A U. championships in New York, June 19-20, is on tap with a host of defending champions and would-be titleholders back to run and jump for glory in America's Olympics.

For some it may be the last competition for the duration, and, for others, perhaps for all time.

Headlining the stellar array of speed demons and hurdle hotchas will be Harold Davis, the present "world's fastest human" who will be defending his two sprint titles, the 100 and the 200 meters, won last year at Tri-Borough stadium in New York.

Davis, who has hopes of cracking world marks in the two events, now is a senior at the University of California but he is headed for the Marine Corps and probably will do no more running for the duration.

Davis, who twice has been clocked in 9.4 for the century but who hasn't received official recognition because of a wind at his back, is fired with one ambition, according to reports from Berkeley. And that is to get his name inscribed in the record books along with Jesse Owens and Frank Wykoff as the only sprinters ever to hit the world record of 9.4 in the 100.

To prove Davis is still the classy sprinter he was last year when he won 4 consecutive races, he recently ran the century in 9.5 at the Fresno relays.

The 100-meter and 200-meter events could be the outstanding events on the A. A. U. card if a Texas schoolboy, Charley Parker, 16, hailed as "the greatest sprinter in Texas schoolboy history," enters the senior events. Parker, who does his racing for Thomas Jefferson high school in San Antonio, has run the 100 in 9.5 and the 220 in :20.6. He is eligible for both the junior and senior events but would prefer to enter the senior competition.

Parker, brother of a former well-known sprinter, Bryce Parker, has won 37 straight races.

Californians again will be favored to cop many of the events on the long program.

Other record holders expected to be on hand are Cliff Bourland of Southern California, who won the 400-meter crown last year; Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, the great pole vaulter who may get away to compete, Grover Klemmer of the San Francisco Olympic club, who holds the world mark for the distance; Bill Cummins of Rice Institute, who holds the hurdle championship, and Boyd Brown, four-times winner of the javelin throw. Klemmer has been running longer distances this year and may not meet Bourland in the 400.

Gunder Haegg, the Swedish distance star, is scehduled to appear, but latest report indicated he won't make it in time.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The other day Col. Dick Hanley of the Marines, former big time college coach, told the Washington Touchdown club the only good reason for football is that it helps entertain the boys overseas . . . If football coaches want to do a real service, said Dick, they can take the kids who never have played football and toughen 'em up. Fellows who have played the game don't need that extra training. Of course, you might argue, that's just what they do. If there wasn't any football there wouldn't be that group which is ahead of the rest in physical condition. Even though the footballers represent less than one per cent of the men in the armed forces.

SATURDAY'S CHILDREN

The Cubs knocked the Dodgers down into second, something on which the bums hadn't reckoned . . . Let's cheer the arrival of Gunder the Wonder though Rice and Dodds may steal his thunder . . . When Carlos Hubbell pitched a one-hitter, the Giants began to feel slightly less bitter . . . "Nothing doing," said Wright to Pep. "This Bartolo guy may ruin your rep." . . . When Ensign Cannon tossed the discus, the guys in the stands were raking the riskus; he set a record that no one can snub and says it's due to navy grub.

Indianapolis Romp Checked

Brewers Sweep Both Ends Of Double Bill.

(By Associated Press)

Indianapolis' runaway in the American association baseball race today had been checked, temporarily at least, after Milwaukee had won the honor of being the first club to sweep a doubleheader from the tribe this season.

* * *

In accumulating a four-game winning streak, the Brewers shoved the Indians off the warpath with 5 to 3 and 3 to 0 victories yesterday and shaved their lead from four games to three.

* * *

Milwaukee's triumph gave the loop's first division standings a considerable shaking-up. The Brewers themselves moved into third place while idle Columbus moved up a notch to second. The Toledo Mudhens dropped a twin bill to the Minneapolis Millers, and fell from second to fourth.

Minneapolis' double victory, by scores of 14 to 1 and 4 to 3, gave the Millers a four-game winning streak also.

Two other doubleheaders, Louisville at Kansas City and Columbus at St. Paul, were postponed.

Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager, is 55 years old.

Jack Salveson Hurls Shutout, Hits Homer

Pitcher-Lifting Boudreau Makes Wrong Guess In Opener.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians returned from the eastern battlefronts today with few medals for gallantry in action. The Tribesmen started their seaboard tour at the top of the American league but are now in sixth place.

Jack Salveson shutout the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 0 in the nightcap of a double header yesterday after the Redskins had blown a four-run lead and lost the opener 12 to 5.

The Indians won only four of 15 engagements with eastern clubs and the 29-year-old Salveson pitched two of those victories.

The spectacled hurler, drafted from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league, has been with Pittsburgh, Chicago and Washington but never unpacked his suitcase for any length of time.

Salveson also contributed to the Indians' second game offensive by slamming a fifth-inning homer into the upper deck of the left field pavilion. Roy Cullenbine and Manager Lou Boudreau also contributed round-trippers in the afterpiece.

The Tribe owned a 5 to 2 lead going into the seventh frame of the opener but Allie Reynolds was replaced by Chubby Dean after giving up a single and issuing a walk. Dean failed to retire a batter, was blasted for two runs and left the mound with the bases loaded. Joe Heving forced the tying run across the plate and was touched for another marker. Just to insure victory the Mackmen hammered Heving for six more runs in the eighth.

The Indians rest today and tomorrow before opening a five-game series with the St. Louis Browns Wednesday at League park.

BREAK JINX

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Something had to give as the Cincinnati Reds went into the tenth inning deadlocked with the Boston Braves at three all in the first game of yesterday's scheduled doubleheader.

(Weather conditions halted the second game in the first inning).

Up until yesterday the Reds had not won a Sunday game this season. Counterlikewise, they had not lost a single overtime affair this year—winning four over the extra inning route.

From the tenth on it was a question which of these two marks would be cast asunder. The answer came in the last of the fourteenth off the bat of Cincinnati Shortstop Eddie Miller. With one out and the bases loaded, Miller patterned his third single of the game to bring Frank McCormick, Red first baseman across the plate with the game clincher.

The game was a pitcher's battle between Righthander Elmer Riddle and the Braves' hardluck champion Nate Andrews. Both made a wobbly start, the Braves collecting three runs on a pair of doubles by Eddie Joost and Tom Holmes and a homerun by Charlie Workman in the first inning. The Reds got two in their half of the same frame as Max Marshall walked and Gee Walker hit his first four bagger of the season.

A smart defensive move by Red Catcher Ray Mueller in the seventh stifled a Boston threat. Boston runners were on second and third with one down when Mueller called for a surprise pitchout which caught Rookie Elmer Nieman too far down the third baseline. Mueller ran him to earth unassisted and Bill Wietelmann popped to short center to end the inning.

In the ninth McCormick tied the game with a homerun.

The Reds will spend the next three days playing teams of the armed forces. They are scheduled to meet Camp Atterbury, Ind., tomorrow, Camp Benjamin Harrison, Ind., Wednesday and the Great Lakes Naval station, Great Lakes, Ill., Thursday, returning to the National league wars Friday in the first of four games against the Chicago Cubs in the Windy City.

Haegg Preps For Race Sked

Hunts Training Site For Three-Month Tour.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Gunder Haegg, Swedish holder of seven world's distance records, today expressed the hope of competing against America's Greg Rice in a 5,000-meter race—but it all depends on how the visitor finds training in this country.

Arriving at LaGuardia airport yesterday, the swift-footed Swede immediately set his aides searching for a likely training site in preparation for his three-month competitive tour of the United States. Dartmouth university, at Hanover, N. H., soon was selected as the camp.

Haegg's first appearance will be with the national AAU championships, June 19-20, at New York's Randall Island stadium. He indicated that the outcome of training will determine whether his first opponent will be Rice, who met him at the airport, or Gil Dodds in the 1,500-meter race.

In answer to a direct question, Haegg said that, although he considers himself a miler, he may give preference to the longer distance with Rice to help boost gate receipts, as proceeds of the meet will go to the Army Air Forces Aid society.

Haegg came equipped with one American word, "Okay," and two pair of white antelope-skin spiked shoes, with which he would have preferred to do his talking. He answered questions through an interpretor, Sven Dahlman, the first secretary of the Swedish legation in Washington, who met Haegg upon his arrival aboard an oil tanker in New Orleans, Saturday.

GUS DORAZIO TANGLES WITH LEM FRANKLIN

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Guns Dorazio of Philadelphia risks his standing among the nation's top 10 heavyweights tonight when he meets Lem Franklin, unpredictable Cleveland, O., negro in a 10-round bout.

Dorazio has defeated Harry Bobo and Bob Pastor, but he has been an easy target and supporters of the hard-hitting Franklin were inclined to discount Dorazio's record.

Brooklyn outfielder Augie Galan started as a shortstop.

Cliff Bourland . . . undefeated.

Hottest Hitter In Majors Can't Tell How He Did It

NEW YORK—(AP)—Strange as it may seem, most baseball players can't explain why they're going good or bad at bat.

Pinky Higgins is like the others; he can't tell why he's hot. Right now he's the hottest hitter in the American league. The Tigers' third baseman has been leading the loop hitting around .350. That's a few points below Vernon Stephens but the Browns' infielder is injured and out of the lineup.

Pinky hasn't changed his stance or his grip or his swing but he's hitting almost a hundred points above his last year's average.

"It's just one of those things in this unpredictable racket. Hitting splurges and slumps come and go as sure as taxes," he says: "Sometimes it seems that every ball you see riding up to the dish is in the groove and sometimes none are down the middle and all are nicking the corners where you're not expecting them."

Michael Frank Higgins does offer one explanation—the short spring training exhibition game schedule.

In previous springs in Florida major league clubs played some thirty exhibition games under the hot sun and, while such training aided some players, it tired Higgins. This spring clubs had a shorter schedule and cooler weather. Pinky played in only a half dozen or so exhibitions and so he says he faced the start of the regular season fresher than usual.

"I think that may have something to do with my improved hitting. I'm not exhausted from the long string of exhibitions. This is the first time in five or six years that I've gotten off to a good start," he says.

Will he keep going at this .350 plus pace?

"Well, that's something you can't tell about. Whenever a ball player is going good he thinks he's going to keep right on going good. But this is a screwy business and you can't tell what might throw you off."

This splurge came at an opportune time for Pinky for some observers were beginning to think that he was slipping. He's been in the majors — with the A's, Red Sox and Tigers—for 10 years and last season he appeared to slow up a bit afield and his batting average slipped to .267, his all-time low mark. Fact is, he hasn't been over .276 but one of the four years he has been with Detroit.

From a batting average standpoint his first two years were his best when in 1933 and 1934 with Philadelphia he hit .314 and .330. However, he was just over .300 with Boston in 1937 and 1938 when he had his best runs-batted-in years with 106 each season. It was in 1938 that Pinky set a major league record by getting 12 hits in succession.

There was some brief talk at the Evansville, Ind., training camp that someone else would play third base and that Pinky might ride the bench or possibly play in the outfield. But Pinky allowed he wanted to stay right there on third and he hit and fielded in such fashion that Manager Steve O'Neill gave up any thought of a change.

* * *

Pinky, the pride of Red Oak, Texas, has been playing third base longer than any other hot corner guardian in the league. And just the other day, on his 34th birthday, May 27, he also celebrated his eleventh year in the big show. Despite his years Pinky thinks he has a lot of good baseball and base hits left in his system and the batting averages prove he's right.

YANKS HAMMER ANEW AT ITALY, ISLAND BASES

dered against enemy batteries on the volcanic Italian outpost.

The Italian batteries answered, but Sunday's communique said no damage was done the Allied fleet.

Monserrato airdrome and shipping in Porto Ponte de Romano in southern Sardinia also were hit in Saturday's aerial action, which was climaxed by the U. S. daylight bombing of La Spezia, during which armor-piercing 2,000-pound bombs were laid among three of Italy's largest battleships.

A formation of P-40 Warhawk fighters was attacked by about 25 Messerschmitts and shot down six of them in ensuing dogfights.

Marauder gunners who shot down Messerschmitts were Staff Sergt. Vincent D. Rylka of Irvington, N. J., and Corp. Raymond J. Stall Smith of 102 Winona drive, Middleton, O.

Reds Down 752 Nazi Planes In Week

MOSCOW — (AP) — Citizens of Moscow looked forward to another significant week of aerial warfare today as they went to work reading of the Red Air Force's reported achievements in knocking down 752 German planes to Russian losses of 212 from May 30 through June 5.

The week's air battles brought German losses to 2,821 planes during the last five weeks, Russian dispatches said.

Russian communiques continued to ignore German radio reports of violent fighting on the central front between Smolensk and Velikie Luki.

The Soviet midnight communique, describing Sunday fighting, said German forces attacked in the Sevesk area, "attempting to win back positions lost the day before."

Fear Invasion Blow Through Spain

STOCKHOLM — (AP) — Dispatches from Berlin and Rome today said Axis leaders were expressing fears the Allies may strike a hard invasion blow through Spain.

Observers here immediately surmised the reports, filtered through strict censorship, might be the prelude to German and Italian plans to march into Spain to set up air bases to defend the "European Fortress" better.

It also was recalled that General Francisco Franco was reported to have said he would call on the other side for assistance, should the Allies or Axis invade Spain.

Rome dispatches said the Italian press had warned the Allies may strike through Spain, still weak from the blood letting of the long civil war.

Spain would provide either belligerent with good air bases. For the Allies, observers said, it would be an ideal bridgehead from which to furnish aerial cover for landing operations in western or southern France.

Believe Boisson May Keep Dakar Post

ALGIERS — (AP) — The French Committee For National Liberation met today amid reports that it might retain Pierre Boisson as governor of Dakar and French West Africa.

Boisson is opposed by Gen. Charles De Gaulle who led an abortive attack against Dakar earlier in the war. Allied leaders, however, were said to be impressed with Boisson's ability. He delivered his large, strategic territory to the late Admiral Jean Darlan and the Allied cause after the American and British landing in North Africa.

OHIOANS KILLED

They're Among Eight to Die in Fortress Crash.

PYOTE, Tex.—(AP)—Eight men, including two Ohioans were killed yesterday in the crash of a Flying Fortress as it attempted an emergency landing in the desert, the rattlesnake bomber base reported.

The Ohioans were Sgt. Allen Y. Mumford, aerial engineer-gunner, Jackson Center, and Sgt. Edward J. Trapp, assistant engineer-gunner, West Salem.

RAWSON GIVES UP PRESIDENCY

ance of a decree by Rawson dissolving congress, which was to have convened tomorrow.

There were no further details on the disagreement between the two leaders of the revolution.

Some observers expressed the opinion, however, Rawson had been considered from the very first as not quite in line with the ultra Rightist political tinge of his new ministers.

Ramirez was generally regarded as having more pronounced rightist tendencies than Rawson, but the effect his leadership would have on Argentina's foreign policy was not immediately clear.

(Dispatches from Montevideo said that observers there who are mainly interested in Argentina's foreign policy, said that nothing had yet happened either to confirm or deny initial assurances following Castillo's ouster that the revolution would mean the end of Argentina's aloof attitude toward Pan American solidarity).

Gen. Rawson gave no reason for dissolving congress, but it seemed logical to suppose the Ramirez government would not call it into session immediately, and that the democratic form of government would remain in cold storage during a period of readjustment, at least in domestic affairs.

Diplomatic representatives of other American republics have met three times since the Friday coup, but have maintained a "watch and wait" attitude. It was assumed they were awaiting the swearing in of a government when formal communications might be expected.

(Radio broadcasts indicated that Germany and Japan also were watching the situation closely.)

700 IN CLASS

Ohio State Grads Warned of 'Perilous Days Ahead.'

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A class of 700 Ohio State university students today awaited graduation exercises Friday after hearing a baccalaureate sermon in which they were urged to lift "security, comradeship, adventure and achievement, the four most widely cherished desires of human beings, to a loftier level."

Dr. Boynton Merrill, pastor of the Columbus First Congregational church, gave the sermon.

"Perilous days lie ahead for many of you," he asserted, "and like Abraham of ol' we go out not knowing whither, but we need not go alone."

Henry R. Luce, editor of Time, Life and Fortune, will give the commencement address Friday.

Gets Five Japs By Playing the Old Indian Game

GREAT LAKES, Ill. — (INS) — Corp. Aarend Doornebos, 22-year-old marine, used to play the soldier and Indian game when he was a kid. In his imagination he would take pot shots at the Redskins from behind boulders.

Now he is at Great Lakes Naval hospital, recovering from leg and foot wounds, dealt out by a Jap. But the Japs paid dearly for the injuries received by the youthful corporal.

Doornebos related the following story of his Guadalcanal experiences:

"I was alone on a ridge just outside the jungle after my eight companions had dragged themselves, wounded, back into the thicket. Off to my right the Japs were sniping at me.

"I crawled through the three-foot grass and got behind a boulder and the firing ceased. I pushed my gun up over the rock and fired. I heard a lot of Jap cussing and I knew there must have been damage done.

"Next time I twisted to the left side of the boulder and shot at another Jap. He went down. I potted No. 3 from the same position. Then a grenade exploded about a yard away and I could feel the metal rip into my foot and leg. I got the fourth Jap a moment later, and then the fifth, after missing him on the first shot."

FIND SAILOR'S BODY

LORAIN — (AP) — The body of James C. Schwartz of South Charleston, W. Va., 32-year-old oiler on the sand boat Hydro, was recovered from the Black river yesterday by coast guardsmen. Schwartz disappeared the night of May 31 while on watch on the boat, tied up here.

In China, American bombers and fighters helping Chinese armies expand their victory in the upper Yangtze made widespread attacks from Ichang to Shasi, a front of 656 miles along the river, raking gunboats and troop concentrations.

The Chinese said their forces were cutting a Japanese group to pieces at Itu, 18 miles below Ichang, after Chinese fliers had bombed the outskirts of the town, and took a number of villages in an advance on Owchihkow, 60 miles southeast of Itu. They said their counter-offensive was making progress toward Hwajung, key town north of Tungting lake in the rice country.

In Burma RAF planes carried out one attack, but the rainy season had almost put a stop to operations.

Action's Coming, Stilwell Hints

CAIRO — (AP) — Arriving here from conferences in Washington with other Allied leaders, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell expressed belief yesterday that plans laid in those talks would "satisfy all who cry out for strong, aggressive and immediate action."

Stilwell, commander of U. S. forces in China, India and Burma, is en route back to his post in China.

He indicated satisfaction with events within his own theater, where he is chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek as well as American commander.

an international agency controlling an armed force "might use that force against the little nations but would hesitate to use it on you (Britain) or on us or on Russia."

"There ought to be some means of implementing the worldwide desire of the people for peace." Cook quoted Bricker as adding in reply to the question of how much the United States should cooperate with the rest of the world. "There must be and you may be sure America will be in it x x x x We are in this fight because we believe in (Anglo-Saxon) system and we will do our part when its over; but no league and no international armed force.

"Americans will never surrender their own sovereignty or integrity any more than you would. We want no territory from anybody."

Cook's story said Bricker described the labels "isolationist" and "internationalist" as epithets without any real meaning. Cook said that Bricker did not believe the isolationists are as stupid, as ignorant or as nationalistically egotistic as their opponents think and quoted the governor as saying:

"Certainly I am neither. I am an American. I believe in our way of life, the Anglo-Saxon way—the British way, if you like."

town, which the German radio said was Eastbourne.

The invasion guessing continued in London's press, with the Daily Herald declaring Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, probably would head invasion forces in the Mediterranean theater while a British general might direct any invasion against the northern Europe coast.

The Daily Express said the North African conferences, attended by Churchill, Gen. Marshall and Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, "put the finishing touches to the United Nations' summer campaign," and that Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth U. S. army would play a large role.

The invasion-conscious Germans clamped another state of emergency on the Norwegian port of Bergen, a potential landing point, and it was disclosed that German defensive demolitions had placed a 600-yard wide belt, with anti-tank ditches more than a mile from the sea, clear across the four miles of the Hague, Holland.

The Morocco radio reported new mass arrests of persons along the French coast who might have aided Allied invaders. A Spanish report said Gibraltar was practically bare of shipping.

PACKARD NEARS NORMAL OUTPUT

DETROIT—(U.P.)—Production returned to normalcy at the Packard Motor Car company today after a three-day strike which President R. J. Thomas of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said was prompted by agents of the Ku Klux Klan

The strike was called Thursday in protest against assignment of three Negro workers to assembly line jobs. It tied up output of engines for airplanes and PT-boats.

Thomas disclosed at a meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People here yesterday that he had obtained "absolute evidence" the strike was prompted by the klan. He said the UAW-CIO had demanded an "exhaustive investigation" by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

4,000 OHIO COAL MINERS REFUSE TO RESUME JOBS

Ignore Lewis Order, Insist on Signed Contract; Most Others Back at Work.

tion's 500,000 miners returned to work under their latest strike truce.

Interest in the wage dispute shifted from the miners, whose "no contract, no work" stand last week set war production plants back more than 10,000,000 tons of coal, to the operators, who were reported divided on the question of whether to seek a new contract at the conference table or ask for adjudication of all issues by the War Labor board.

While there was no clearly defined geographical division, most of the northern commercial operators were represented as feeling the portal-to-portal pay issue should be settled with the union in negotiations scheduled to resume today.

A large segment of the southern operators, on the other hand, was reported holding out for a referee's ruling by the WLB, an agency which United Mine Leader John L. Lewis has denounced as prejudiced.

Reports from the coal fields indicated near-normal production was being resumed after a six day interruption.

Only scattered breaks in the back-to-work front were indicated by an early-morning survey. A UMW local at Houston, Pa., representing 800 men voted yesterday not to resume work until a contract is signed, and three large Ohio mines were idle. A local dispute kept 1,000 employes of a Pennsylvania anthracite colliery away from work.

The miners returned to work at the direction of President Roosevelt, but union leaders, in acceding to the president's wishes, set a June 20 deadline for settling their demands for a $2 a day wage increase.

Setting of this new deadline, with its threat of another walkout two weeks hence, aroused congressional demands for speedy enactment of anti-strike legislation designed to prevent just that.

Jail Clause Up To Conference Group

WASHINGTON— (INS) — A provision in the Connally bill under which President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers could be sent to jail for a year for allowing another walkout in the mines, today loomed as the crucial point in a senate-house conference on anti-strike legislation.

This provision was written into both senate and house anti-strike bills and is virtually certain to remain in the legislation if a conference agreement is reached, approved by congress and transformed into law through presidential signature.

The senate and house conferees on the legislation were expected to begin their efforts to harmonize differences late today. Sen. Connally (D.), Tex., author of the senate bill, voiced hope for an agreement within a few days.

The administration was reported to favor the penalty section under which anyone who instigates a strike in a plant or a mine taken over by the government is subject to imprisonment for one year and $5,000 fine.

Anthracite Miners Go Back Into Pits

SCRANTON —(INS)— Anthracite miners streamed back to work today following termination of the second national coal strike in a month.

Hard coal producers in Lackawanna county said the first shift reported on schedule at 7 a. m. with practically all the miners on the job again.

Similar action was anticipated from the remainder of the 80,000 coal workers in Luzerne, Schuylkill, Northumberland and Carbon counties as members of the United Mine Workers of America heeded the call of their president, John L. Lewis, and other international officers to pick up the tools they dropped on Tuesday.

Illinois Miners Comply With Order

SPRINGFIELD, Ill — (INS) — Mine whistles blew back to work today and Illinois coal diggers responded.

Heeding the order of their chief John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers ended their work stoppage and marched back to the pits in droves.

Progressive miners also continued coal production. The majority of PMA shafts in the state stayed at work while those which were idle during the stoppage period were producing coal again today.

SECOND CRASH VICTIM

TOLEDO — (INS) — Cecil L. Loe, 26, of Wyandotte, Mich., was dead today, the second victim of an automobile-train accident in Toledo Saturday. Miss Helen Johnson, 22, of Rossford, riding with Loe, was killed instantly in the crash. Loe died later of his injuries.

TIE UP CARS AND BUSES 20 HOURS

Cleveland Workers Leave Jobs In 'Unauthorized' Stoppage; Service Resumes Today.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—Street car and bus service on 10 East Side lines was halted for more than 20 hours yesterday when AFL unionists staged an unauthorized work stoppage.

Thousands of war plant workers, churchgoers and Sunday travelers were forced to find other means of transportation when employes at three East Side operating stations walked out shortly after midnight Saturday.

Personnel managers of East Side war plants said the stoppage did not seriously affect production.

Southeast, West Side and crosstown lines were not affected.

Union leaders said the men took up the grievance of a group of car repairmen who had been laid off Saturday after they had refused to work without time-and-a-half for overtime.

Thomas P. Meaney, president of the union local, termed the strike unauthorized.

The city's transportation system was paralyzed by an 18-hour stoppage April 18 when unionists voted to strike after the city failed to meet their demands for a wage increase of 14 cents an hour for street car men and 17 cents for bus drivers.

DON'T DOOD IT!

To MILLIONS Of Constipation Sufferers We Say
"Try Hot Water and Kruschen Salts For Welcome Satisfying Relief"
The secret of Kruschen's great success all over the world is its power to make the contents of the bowel moist and easy to expel—you get that "easy" more natural-like bowel movement so desirable and so comfortable.
No straining! No forcing! — a common cause of hemorrhoids — nothing like this when you drink hot water and Kruschen Salts. Take only as directed. Regulate the dose for yourself to bring about that "easy" movement such as you have long desired.
Four ounces of Kruschen Salts at any good drug store costs but very little. Try hot water and Kruschen for 5 days — complete satisfaction or your money promptly refunded. Muir's Cut Rate Drug Store.—Adv.

JUDGE PUFFLE— By Gene Ahern

LOOK, SIS,—IF HIS NAME IS HOMER AUGUSTUS PUFFLE, MY SIZE IN HEIGHT, BUT LARGER AROUND THE EQUATOR,—IF HE TALKS BIG AND DOES LITTLE, THEN HE'S MY BROTHER!— GO TELL HIM PINKY PUFFLE, HIS KID BROTHER, IS HERE FROM BRAZIL!
ALL YOU'D HAVE TO SAY, IS YOU'RE THE JUDGE'S BROTHER, AND THAT'S PROOF ENOUGH FOR ME,— BECAUSE NOBODY ELSE WOULD WANT TO BE!— I'LL GO WAKE HIM UP, OR DO YOU WANT TO TIP THE SOFA AND ROLL HIM OFF?
30 YEARS SINCE HE'S SEEN THE JUDGE

Borrow at Household without fuss or bother on your salary, furniture or car—without endorsers. Pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Example: a $50 loan repaid in 6 monthly installments of $9.24 each costs $5.44, but if repaid in one month costs only $1.50. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 3% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 but not exceeding $300, and ½% per month on any remainder.

STOCK MARKET OPENS WEEK ON RECOVERY NOTE

Uncertainty Caused In Steel Industry By Changes In War Strategy.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market today began the new week with further recovery leanings.

Up fractions to a point or so at a moderately active opening were Chrysler, U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber and Oliver Farm.

Trend analysts noted the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that various changes in war strategy were being reflected in this industry, causing uncertainty in some lines as adjustments were made although over-all demand was not effected and no additional metal was being released for civilian use.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Wheat opened lower as traders assumed a more cautious attitude in view of the approach of harvesting in Oklahoma and Kansas. Other grains were comparatively steady.

Wheat started unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.45⅛-1.45, September $1.45-1.45⅛, and rye was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July 95⅝-¾.

RULES, SAFEGUARDS IN EVENT OF WAR GAS ATTACKS ISSUED

Rules and safeguards to be used in event of war gas attacks were issued today by Carl L. Stough, upon receiving instructions from county defense council chairman, the OCD.

First general rule, according to Stough, is to stay indoors, in a tightly closed room. All windows and doors should be tightly shut and water soaked blankets used on shattered windows. Select a room on the upper floor, if possible, as most war gasses are heavier than air.

If caught outdoors, get out of the area at once, keeping the head down, and shielding the eyes.

Instructions also say that prompt action will avoid serious effects. "Knock on the first door you come to," the instructions state, "taking what ever self-aid steps are necessary."

Shoes and outer clothing should be removed and left outside and should not be touched again except with sticks or gas proof gloves.

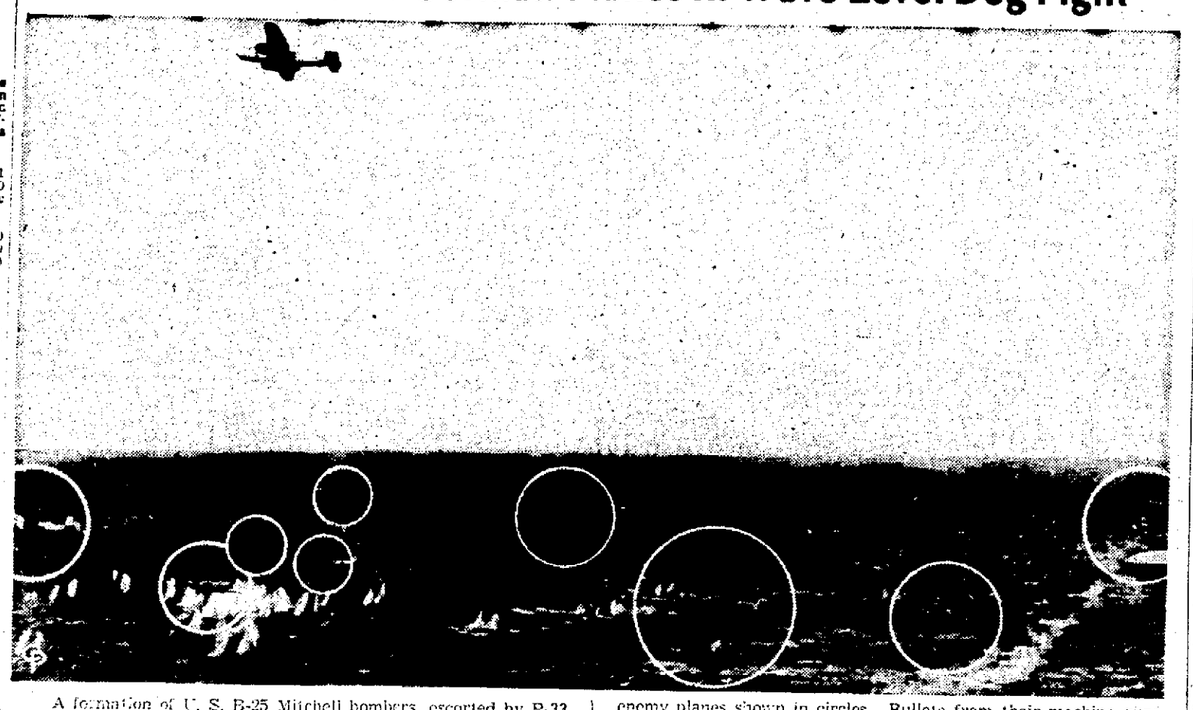
Entering a house with contaminated clothing endangers everyone in it.

If eyes have been exposed to liquid gas or spray, flush them immediately. Plain water out of a faucet or a canteen, will do, but a lake warm diluted solution of bicarbonate of soda is better.

If drops of liquid blister gas have splashed the skin, serious burns can be prevented by adequate cleansing. Blot up the liquid with cloth or cleansing tissue, which should be disposed of carefully. Then sponge the skin with laundry bleach containing sodium hypochlorite and rinse off under the shower or in a tub. A thorough bath with a vigorous latering is the final step and should never be omitted. Dry skin by patting, never rub. Seek medical advice if blisters develop.

If nose and throat is irritated, snuff and gargle with a diluted solution of bicarbonate of soda.

Americans Down German Planes In Wave Level Dog Fight



A formation of U. S. B-25 Mitchell bombers, escorted by P-33 Lightnings are pictured shooting up an Axis air convoy over the Sicilian Straits. The Yanks went in at water level to engage the enemy planes shown in circles. Bullets from their machine guns kick up splashes. Twenty-five of the 35 transport planes were shot down in the furious air battle. Official U. S. Army Air Force photo.

ILL 9 MONTHS

Mrs. Clyde D. Long Taken By Death at Home.

Mrs. Clyde D. Long, 34, native of Loudonville, died Sunday afternoon at the family home on South Main street road. She had been ill nine months.

Mrs. Long was born May 6, 1909 in Loudonville, and came to Mansfield when a young girl.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Kenneth and Clayton, both at home; her father, Frank Kline; three sisters, Mrs. Clarence Reinhardt and Mrs. Preston Williams, both of Mansfield, and Mrs. Wayne Hazlett, Wellington.

The body was taken to the Wappner funeral home where services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. Rev. C. L. Korn, pastor of South Main Street church, will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

THEATERS

Crash Dive.

Tyrone Power and Anne Baxter co-star in "Crash Dive," story of life aboard one of Uncle Sam's submarines. The film features Power as a junior officer who leads his men on a daring raid of enemy shipping. It tells of the many and varied duties of the submarine division. The climax of the picture takes place when Power and his men stage a commando raid on an enemy refueling base. Practically all the film's scenes were shot at the Navy's submarine base at New London, Conn., lending a note of authenticity.

Little Joe.

Eddie (Rochester) Anderson foreswears adventures with the polar bear Carmichael and other antics to become thoroughly terrified, but none the less comical character as Little Joe, sinner, with Lucifer, jr., and the forces of good in a struggle for his soul, in M. G. M.'s "Cabin in the Sky," musical film based on the New York stage hit, now at the Madison. He appears opposite Ethel Waters in the new picture. "Prelude to War," story of the Axis partners plot to rule the world, is the other Madison film.

Junior Army.

Freddie Bartholomew tops a featured cast which includes three of the dead-end kids—Billy Halop, Huntz Hall, and Bobby Jordan in Columbia's "Junior Army," the film now playing at the Park. The film is the story of American youth today, preparing on the playing grounds for victories on the battlefields. Belita, world champion girl figure skater, comes to the screen in "Silver Skates," other picture.

The Hard Way.

Ida Lupino, Dennis Morgan and Joan Leslie are starred in "The Hard Way," the Ritz's top attraction. Cast as Helen Chernen, Miss Lupino is seen as a driving relentless woman who is so determined that she and her sister shall have a better way of life that she breaks all the rules of human decency to attain it. The Ritz brothers, Jane Frazee, Robert Paige and June Clyde are all seen in the co-attraction, "Hi'ya Chum."

HURT IN CRASH

Ohioans Injured In Truck Crash That Costs 18 Lives.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Two Ohioans were injured in an army truck accident which cost the lives of 18 soldiers late Saturday, the Second army public relations office reported. The soldiers were returning to a maneuver area when the truck crashed through a bridge rail and down a 30-foot embankment.

The Ohioans are Capt. Gordon B. Free of Bainbridge and Technician (Fourth Grade) Edward S. Metzger of Cleveland.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Wardens to Meet — Air raid wardens of the First ward are to meet today at 8 p. m. at North Lake park pavilion, W. E. Bradford, zone warden, announced.

Learn of Death—Friends here today learned of the death Saturday in Phoenix, Ariz., of Mrs. Fred Roach, a former Mansfielder. He was formerly associated with the Ohio Brass company.

Bike Recovered — A bicycle owned by Paul Thomas, 45 Ausdale avenue, and reported stolen Saturday night at North Lake park had been recovered last night by the owner, police were told.

Attend Session—Floyd Dent, area scout executive, and four scouts, George Erich, Fred Warner, Richard James and William Dent, are attending the camp directors' course near Columbus today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Meeting Time Changed — The Wednesday group of Red Cross surgical dressing workers will meet at 9 a. m. Wednesday rather than in the afternoon as originally scheduled, Mrs. Wendell Long announced today.

Air Wardens To Meet—Air raid wardens of the Sixth ward will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at Hedges school. An instructor will be present and George Berg, zone warden, requests all wardens to be present.

Elects Officers — The Mansfield Dental Clinic association will elect officers and hear reports of the organization's work at a meeting at 8 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Mrs. Warren Fort, president, announced today.

Firemen Called — Firemen from Central station made a run Sunday afternoon to the Charles McKinney home, 215 Miller street, where "overdone" meat in the oven filled the home with smoke. There was no damage, firemen said.

Demonstrations Scheduled—Miss Elizabeth Bay, county home demonstration agent, will give canning and drying demonstrations Thursday at 1:30 at the Brethren church west of Five Points and Friday at 1:30 at the Union Grange Hall.

Board Meets — The Mansfield board of health will meet at 8:30 p. m. today at the city building. Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said he would report on the recent pre-school clinic in which more than 400 Mansfield children were examined.

Catch Prowler — A youthful prowler caught in the yard at the A. C. McBride home, 332 Auburn avenue, about 11:30 p. m. Sunday after he allegedly had looked in the windows was turned over to his parents by police who were told by the parents that they would "take care of him."

Class To Meet—A new Red Cross nutrition class will meet for its first session of a 10 weeks course Tuesday at 2 p. m. at First Presbyterian church. Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, instructor of the course, urges all persons interested to come to the church at that time to enroll in the course.

New Commissioners — Carl W. Schaefer and Carl Swanger today had been named new jury commissioners to direct selection to common pleas court juries. They succeed Ira Matthes and Arthur Busch whose terms expired May 31. Their appointments were made by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Society Meets—Women's Missionary society of First United Brethren church will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the church. Committee in charge of arrangements consists of Mrs. L. Hutzelman, Mrs. A. Bowser, Mrs. A. Nogle and Mrs. G. Wagner. The children's service will be in charge of Cora Hershner.

BISHOP DIES

Freeman, Head of Episcopal Diocese, Stricken At 76.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Bishop James E. Freeman, 76, noted church leader and head of the Washington Episcopal diocese since 1923, died yesterday near the famous National cathedral he built.

He had been in failing health for several months and suffered a heart attack last Friday.

finance committee. Council is not expected to act on the budget until its July 6 meeting.

Mayor Locke said there is still a question about the amount the city will need next year for its direct relief program. Council appropriated $15,000 in 1943, but the mayor said requirements next year should be "considerably less."

Council may be asked tonight to seek priority on a new fire pumper for delivery next year, the mayor said. The city recently acquied one new pumper and has been promised delivery of an aerial ladder truck for next September.

Approval by council tonight of state highway department plans for the $74,000 street project will permit advertising for bids on the work this month and awarding the contract in July, it was said.

Also included in the project are sections of Marion avenue and Park avenue west which were damaged by severe weather during the past winter.

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

LONDON—(By Wireless)—On revisiting London after two years I am reminded of the proverb that the more things change the more they remain the same.

When I was here in the summer of 1941, England was still shaken from the blitz. People had stood up through the most terrible mass punishment that ever had been visited on any population over so long a period. And they were dreading the expected resumption of the blitz as soon as the long winter nights returned.

Clapper

England was still standing alone, and asking anxiously whether America would come into the war. Churchill and Roosevelt were finishing their Atlantic meeting as I landed here, and I remember a sense of letdown on the part of the British public when the Atlantic Charter was announced. Hopes had unconsciously been raised, and when only a piece of paper emerged from the meeting, noble as its language was, it left a sense of disappointment among a people in need of muscular rather than inspirational assistance.

London seems hardly changed from those days. Buildings knocked down in the blitz are still knocked down. Rows of damaged houses stand vacant as they did two years ago. There is no manpower nor material to divert to reconstruction. But there has been no damage of consequence since then. The Nazis have been sending over isolated planes, and there have been alerts ten nights running in London, which is apparently the German way of robbing Britishers of sleep at a cheap price. Some coast towns have been rather heavily hit in recent weeks. But on the whole England has not felt German bombs on any scale comparable to that of 1941. Anti-aircraft guns are bristling now where there was nothing but vacant space two years ago.

Rations are even tighter than two years ago. In the fancy hotels the service and the silverware are still elegant, but you don't get very much food with it. If you sit down to dinner and can still get jugged hare or pigeon you are lucky. The tea is almost undrinkable, and the coffee is not much better. Milk has just been loosened up to round out the diet—and high time, because I have noticed that some of my friends seem drawn and pallid. Visitors lose weight here. The fare is certainly frugal by any standard, and for one just in from Swedish smorgasbord is seems hardly enough to keep a sparrow up to normal weight.

One surprising thing is that in a dozen or so offices I have visited there have been no changes whatever either in personnel or in the location of the offices. Washington wouldn't believe that possible because there they move out on you while you are at lunch, and every time you call you must make the acquaintance of a new crew that has taken over since the week before.

Here the war organization seems to be shaken down and stable. Everybody in the same groove as two years ago. I walked into the ministry of information and picked up where I left off in the summer of 1941, as if I had been away only a week.

The big change here is the Americans. This is a little Washington. American uniforms and American civilians are everywhere. You can't walk into a hotel lobby or into the neighborhood of the American embassy without seeing old friends just in from the states. They have brought along a lot of planes also, which makes England quite a different place, and about that I hope to write later after traveling around the island some.

Although I have been here only two days I sense a calm confidence in place of the anxiety of two years ago. It is curious, though, how the British are taking it in their stride. You hear no boasting, and no dramatic language of the "dirty Hun" type. They seem to be still going at it with quiet, workmanlike, undemonstrative determination.

SEES CLASH IN CAPITAL OVER PRICE SUBSIDIES

Minnesotan Says Congress To Oppose Administration's Roll-Back Set-Up.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, today assailed, the administration's plan to use subsidies to hold down food prices.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A "head-on" clash between the administration and congress over payment of subsidies in the Office of Price Administration "roll back" order on prices was predicted today by Rep. August H. Andresen (R., Minn.)

The Minnesota congressman, a member of the house agriculture committee, charged that the New Deal is "going ahead with a subsidy program" in spite of the fact that congress "is dead set against it."

In its latest move in the subsidy plan, the OPA announced that the retail price of meat will be reduced an average of three cents per pound on June, through a $250,000,000 a year subsidy program, payments starting today.

Retail butter prices will also be cut back 10 per cent on June 10 by use of subsidies. Announcement of further subsidy payments is expected.

Meanwhile, Rep. Stephen Page, (D., Ga.) another committee member, said it was "unfortunate that those who are proposing the subsidy program have not consulted with congress to work out a solution."

Pace said he early sought cooperation between congress and the agencies involved, but added that "the agencies have gone on in their own way."

Warning that a serious threat to production of farm products may result, Andresen meanwhile pointed out that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will find itself "in the undesirable position of having promised subsidies — without money to pay them."

"The break is almost certain to come within 30 days," Andresen predicted, adding that congress probably won't "put up the money for subsidy payments."

CITES GAIN IN U. S. OUTPUT OF HEAVY BOMBERS

Nelson Reports 18 Per Cent Increase; Navy Getting More Fighter Planes.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—American war plants produced 18 per cent more heavy bombers in April than in March, War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson reported today.

The overall increase of seven per cent in munitions production in April exceeded expectations, Nelson said. He added that by the end of 1943 the monthly rate of increase in munitions production will have to be tapered off "considerably."

Total munitions production in April approached $5,000,000,000, with the aircraft program—the largest of all—being about $1,649,000,000, or 33 per cent of all munitions produced. Even with this gain, Nelson said, the aircraft program did not quite reach the month's objective.

Nelson's production communique—the tenth of a series—made these significant disclosures:

The output of single-engined navy fighting planes was up nearly 50 per cent in April over March.

Manufacture of artillery reached a greater volume in April than is scheduled for any month this year or next.

Aircraft ordnance was up eight per cent; ground ordnance up four per cent; navy and army vessels up three per cent; merchant vessels up 11 per cent and miscellaneous munitions up 11 per cent.

Production of merchant vessels is near maximum.

The greatest output of airplanes will not be attained until next year unless changes in military strategy call for alteration in the program.

There must be further tightening up of schedules in order to attain a sounder production balance.

Production of airplanes, airplane armament and related objects increased 8 per cent in April, measured on a dollar-weighted basis. Airplanes alone counted for an 11 per cent gain.

Ammunition for the "Bazooka"—one of the potent secret weapons—jumped into mass production ahead of expectations.

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—The Communist propaganda agencies, including the official publications of several CIO unions, have tried lately to build up a fine but completely false reputation for magnificent efficiency and selfless devotion to the war effort for the longshoremen's union of the Pacific coast controlled by Harry Bridges, the Australian Communist who is under suspended order of deportation. It is Bridges' purpose to establish a beachhead, so to speak, on the Atlantic coast, where, up to now, the work of handling cargo loading and unloading ships has been controlled by the rival longshoremen's union of the AFL. This is an anti-Communist organization but a bad one, much troubled by racketeering and other characteristic ills of the older and more complacent group. Bridges has made several trips to New York and Washington ostensibly and in part actually in connection with problems of efficiency and wages affecting his west coast union but, incidentally, to conspire with fellow Communists, avowed and covert for his union of the Atlantic coast. Concurrently he has proved considerable ballyhoo as a diligent and patriotic soldier of production, which is entirely untrue.

Pegler

The actual measure of Bridges' war effort was given in a statement by Paul Eliel, chairman of the Pacific coast maritime industry board, a federal agency, on Feb. 4.

Eliel represents the war shipping administration in this board, whose other members represent, respectively, the Bridges union and the ship-owners. In his statement Eliel said his board had fallen down on its job because production, meaning the performance of work, was "still pitifully below the standards that can properly be expected."

"It does no good," he wrote, "to direct attention to the handful of instances in which ships have been given the kind of service and the sort of production that every ship deserves during this period," and further on, "the production per gang hour can only be described as pitiful."

The showing, he held, was one which should cause his board "and every member of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and all its officers to hide their heads in shame. No one in his right mind can claim that the over-all record is one that is deserving of the strongest commendation."

As to comparisons between the efficiency of Bridges' Communist-front union and Joe Ryan's east coast AFL men, Eliel said that until proof should be presented to the contrary, and on the basis of evidence already presented, "it must be assumed that there is a substantial unfavorable differential when west coast production is compared to that of the east coast."

This forthright appraisal of Bridges' performance, the more embarrassing because it sounded a sour, although not publicly audible note in the Communist propaganda, brought from Bridges and his two union members of the board a demand that Eliel resign. Pursuant to this, Rear Admiral Emory S Land, administrator of the war shipping administration, called the whole board to Washington for a hearing on April 1, which lasted through April 3. On April 7 he wrote a letter to the board upholding Eliel and rebuking the union for demanding his removal and for failure to perform. He also criticized the shipowners' representatives for stiffneckedness in their dealing with the board's problems, but his most emphatic comments were addressed to Bridges and his union. He pointed out also that some of the board's decisions had run counter to the interests of the employers "without any demand from them that the chairman be removed."

Far from agreeing that Eliel should be removed, Admiral Land criticized Eliel because he had not made the same report weeks, or months, before. He shunned comparisons between Ryan's east coast men and Bridges' subjects as likely to lead into time-wasting debate and insisted that the only basis of comparison should be the actual performance of Bridges' men against "what can be done."

After his study and on the basis of the facts only, Admiral Land wrote that performance on the west coast was unsatisfactory and instructed Eliel to get to work and produce tangible results. He said Eliel had been "too considerate of the longshoremen," and "unwilling to press for needed corrections hard enough."

There, or thereabouts, the matter stands now. Ship carrying cargo to American fighters in the Aleutians and the south Pacific, are unnecessarily delayed and meanwhile, a campaign progresses to establish the same power on the east coast and institute similar controls and methods in the loading of supplies to Russia and to the Americans in Africa on whom Bridges, Joe Curran of the Communist front maritime union, Charlie Chaplin of Hollywood and other ferocious Communist and pro-Communist vicarious warriors, have been calling for a second front on continental Europe.

DEADLINE NEAR

Ration Book 3 Applications Must Be Mailed This Week.

If you want to be among 7,500,000 Ohioans who will begin to receive War Ration Book No. 3 you'll have to fill out the application and get it in the mail by Thursday, June 10.

Ration officials have set Thursday as the deadline for mailing applications. Charles C. Beelman, rationing board chairman, today warned Mansfielders that if their applications are not mailed by this date they will have to wait until the end of August to make application for War Ration Book No. 3 which is to replace War Ration Books 1 and 2.

Today is the last day to use blue stamps G, H and J in Ration Book two for canned goods and processed goods, the Ohio OPA office warned.

Blue stamps K, L, and M will continue valid through July 7, while red stamp L became good yesterday and will remain valid through the month.

Judge Hears Testimony In Child Neglect Case Against Sisters.

Two colored women, Mrs. Frankie Jacobs, 18, and her sister, Mrs. Lucille McKinney, 22, of 192 North Franklin avenue, today had received a suspended jail sentence of 30 days from Probate Judge Stuart Cramer on charges of neglect of small children.

Complaint against the women was signed by their mother, Mrs. Amy Jarrett, who testified both neglected one and a two-year-old babies of Mrs. Jacobs and twin baby girls of Mrs. McKinney.

PROBE TRAGIC DEATH OF BOY

Police Hear Young Grandson of FDR Tell How Friend Was Fatally Shot.

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — An accidental shot from a small-bore rifle by William Donner Roosevelt, 11-year-old grandson of the president, today was blamed for the death of his playmate, Lewis Hutchinson, also 11.

The tragedy occurred at the Edgemont estate of William's mother, Mrs. Curtin Winsor, where Lewis was visiting.

Coroner Winslow J. Rushong said the boys were playing on the front lawn and decided to get a bow and arrow from a game closet. As they ran into the front hall of the stone mansion, he said, William tripped over a 22-caliber rifle standing in the hallway. The gun discharged, the bullet passing through Lewis' body.

When the victim ran screaming to the front porch, where he collapsed, Mrs. Winsor picked him up and drove eight miles to Bryn Mawr hospital. Doctors said the boy was dead by the time William's mother, former wife of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, reached him.

Lewis was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hutchinson of Ardmore, Pa. The father is a Philadelphia investment broker.

Mrs. Winsor, who divorced Elliott Roosevelt only a little more than a year after their marriage in 1932, married Winsor, an investment broker, in 1937. They also were divorced, last March.

PREDICTS AIR FUTURE

ALLIANCE —(AP)— U. S. Sen. Harold H. Burton thinks American families will own airplanes instead of "a second automobile" in the post-war period. He made this prediction yesterday in an address at Mount Union college's commencement exercises where he was awarded an honorary degree.

Cattle with the wanderlust is the newest problem for county officers. Over the week-end five animals were reported lost, strayed or stolen to the sheriff's office. When four-year-old heifers wander away from home you might blame it on their youth, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said, but a six-year-old pony, also reported missing, is old enough to know better. Today Theodore Witschi, Mansfield R. D. 5, knew how Bo-Peep felt when she lost her sheep as he continued his search for his four Guernsey heifers. Joe Haring, who lives on U. S. Route 42, is the owner of a six-year-old black Shetland pony which has left its home.

James R. Young, the newspaperman and author who married a Mansfield girl, plans to start a weekly newspaper in New York to fight the isolationists and "pussy-footers," he told an interviewer in Hollywood. Young, an International News Service correspondent, is in the movie capital helping with the filming of his book, "Behind the Rising Sun." He said his head man in the weekly newspaper venture will be J. B. Powers, the editor who lost his feet as the result of ill treatment while he was held a prisoner by the Japs. Young said the paper will be called the "Far Easterner" and its slogan will be "Words are Weapons that Guns Cannot Destroy." Young spoke in Mansfield the day after the Pearl Harbor attack. His wife is the former Marjorie Willis of Mansfield.

If you have been wondering how much longer the city's air raid sirens are going to be sounded at noon, the answer is "indefinitely." Mayor W. J Locke, civilian defense council chairman, said the daily tests have been valuable in detecting weak spots in the alarm system and proving its effectiveness under various atmospheric conditions. The tests will be continued until OCD officials decide the air raid set-up defects have been corrected, he indicated. Besides, the noon siren is a good signal for setting your clocks.

CITES NEED FOR FOSTER HOMES

County Juvenile Officer Says 25 Residences Required To Solve Problem.

An appeal for 25 homes suitable as foster homes for wards of Richland county was voiced today by Mrs. Marjorie Comer, county juvenile officer.

Obtaining foster homes in normal times has been difficult and has grown into a more serious situation because of the war, Mrs. Comer said.

Wartime dislocations in residence and employment have resulted in a steady decrease in the number of foster homes available.

Expenses of children are paid either by parents or by the county welfare department and homes for both white and colored children are needed. Applications now on file are from parents of both Protestant and Catholic faiths.

Children are those from homes where the parents have separated and those who do not have suitable homes for other reasons.

Richland county now has 24 state-approved foster homes operating for the care of children of employed mothers and for caring for wards of the court, Mrs. Comer explained.

SET UP GUARD RAILS AT PARKS

Wooden Safeguards To Be Built At Middle, Maple Lake.

Guard rails for the protection of traffic on Maple street at Maple lake and Park avenue west at Middle park will be built this week by the city street and parks departments, Mayor W. J. Locke said today.

The projects were set up on the recommendation of Councilmen Clifford G. Knarr and Roy Vaughn.

The guard rails will be made of heavy wooden materials at comparatively small cost but they will be adequate to keep cars from diving off into Maple lake and pedestrians from slipping over the steep embankment at the north side of Park avenue at Middle park, the mayor said.

DIES AT HOME

Thomas E. Sherrard, 60, Was Westinghouse Employe.

Thomas Edward Sherrard, 60, a Westinghouse employe for 23 years, died unexpectedly early Monday at the home of W. S. Strine, 159 South Adams street. He had lived with the Strine family for more than 30 years.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home where services will be conducted Wednesday at 4 p. m. with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery. A number of cousins survive.

TWO GO OVERSEAS

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — (AP) — American Red Cross area headquarters reported Mrs. Jacqueline L. Wright of Canton and Eunice Shanaberger of Kent were among Ohioans arriving overseas for duty with the armed forces.

BOARD FORMED

Postal Department Maps Plan To Study Mail Problems.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Postmaster General Frank C. Walker today established a board to hear applications involving any "serious question" on the mailing privileges of publications.

The new board is the first of its kind since 1879 when second class mail was authorized. Previously, new applications have been handled administratively. An applicant will now be notified why he has not been given privileges and advised that he may have a hearing "where the record can be fully developed as a basis for a final determination of the case."

A second revision prohibits any publication which has had its second-class privilege revoked from obtaining a temporary permit for use of the rate while an application for reinstatement is pending.

PAROLEE FACES MURDER CHARGE

Clevelander Faces First Degree Count In Slaying Of Girl.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Edward J. Ralph, 33-year-old ex-convict, was held to the Cuyahoga county grand jury today after waiving preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Julius M. Kovachy on a first degree murder charge in the rape-slaying of Mary Jane Brady, 5.

The charge was filed after Detective Inspector Frank W. Story reported Ralph signed a confession detailing how he attacked and choked the child last Thursday night. The girl's body was found on a wooded hillside at the edge of Gordon park.

Ralph was sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory in 1930 for shooting two women who resisted his advances. He escaped, was returned and then paroled in 1941.

AN APPLE FOR EVE --

CHAPTER XXVIII.

These were happy and exciting days. She had a strange and exhilarating feeling, especially when Chris gave her a second-hand car. Did she like it? It wasn't new, he said without apology, but he knew she never would accept a new one.

"You're to owe me one hundred dollars for this, Loveday, so that you can truthfully say that you are paying for it gradually and that your brother picked it out. You did pick it out, didn't you, Hugh?"

"But good heavens, it must have cost a lot more than a hundred dollars!"

"Never you mind what it costs; you pay me ten dollars now and the rest at regular intervals and keep calm"

"Hugh, would you? Ought I?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, it was my idea, and Chris of course picked it up and ran off with it," her brother had said. "I told him a month ago that I wanted to get you one."

"You all spoil me!" She had gotten out of the car, put her hand quite simply on Chris' shoulder, and kissed him lightly, gone to Hugh to repeat the embrace "I'm to happy!" she had said.

"If you can say you are happy when Larry has treated you so-so-has treated you as he has," Chris had said later when they were alone, "it says something for your disposition."

He had spoken lightly, but she turned to him a face suddenly troubled.

"But you musn't say that! It wasn't like that. I'd like it better—truly I would!—if you sometimes say—if you'd realize that I was terribly to blame for the way Larry felt"

"I love you when you try to defend him," Chris said

* * *

When she had gone upstairs to put the children to bed Chris lingered on. Annie Lum asked him if he were staying for dinner and he said yes If Loveday felt any surprise about it she did not show it when she came down The big heavily furnished old dining room was gloomy on the dark autumn evening "But we'll have a fire in the library after dinner," she said as she came and went with the table furnishings, "and warm up"

Chris said little, he came to his place when she called him

'This is not dinner, really It's supper Jam and biscuits always make a meal supper" Loveday announced, "when things come in courses that's dinner. But with everything on at once—you forgot the bacon, Annie Lum; it's in the little blue dish. With everything on the table, it's supper I thought Hugh might come." she went on in the silence, "but he always sends a message by five, and there was no message while we were up at the mill."

"I wish we could have that first afternoon and that first talk up at the mill over again," Chris observed.

"That hot day, when there was such a lovely breeze up there? And then to come down and find Larry here and the babies in an uproar," she remembered, smiling ruefully. "That was the day Larry first went away," she added seriously.

"We didn't have to make talk that day," he said gloomily.

"And are we making talk now?" Color rose brightly to her face. "We are," she thought, "what's the matter with us tonight?"

"I think it's made a great difference to you that you know how desperately I love you, what a complete fool I am about you," the man answered quietly with a glance. "I think you like me less!"

"You don't think that you're the only fool, Chris?"

She got up and began to carry plates to the kitchen. Annie Lum padded in knives and forks clattered. Chris sat where he was until the table was cleared and the doilies folded; then he followed Loveday into the library.

"I'm wondering how they kept those big London houses livable in the long winters with just this sort of thing," he said, kneeling to crumple newspapers, lay kindling, shake coal from the scuttle over the pyre, and jiggle the flimsy black tin blower into place.

"Oh, but I've always loved these first fires before the furnace is started for the winter," Loveday said enthusiastically. Chris went to wash his hands; when he came back the fire was beginning to roar and crackle behind the tin shield. "There's a sort of satisfaction," she went on, "in doing things, producing results, yourself. Bringing milk in a pail and hunting for eggs—"

"Going up into the woods for a possum," he put in as she paused, "and drying his skin for a cap and the tail hanging down! Getting the wheat to the mill and setting round until it's ground"

"Oh, I don't care! I think those days must have been wonderful," she said "Days when just plain food and shelter and clothing kept everyone going from morning until night Spinning now—there must have been something so restful to old ladies in spinning! Chopping down trees and seeing the woodpile get large and larger!"

"We are making talk," Chris said.

Loveday glanced at him; was silent, made uneasy by his mood.

"My God, if I were only your husband now, if this were only our house!" he burst out suddenly. "I could — I'd stop going crazy! As it is, half the time I'm here I'm mad at you, mad at you because you go singing upstairs with those kids and you fuss with the bacon and you hunt up just the right jam, and all the time I can't get into your life; I don't belong! I'd rather be unhappy with you than happy anywhere else; there is nowhere else. I go away from here thinking that it'll last me a long while, thinking 'I've seen her and talked with her and there's nothing—there's nothing so extraordinary —'"

"'I no see nothing about that frog that is not like every other frog'" Loveday supplied. "Chris," she said in a different, an affectionate and pleading tone, her chair near enough to his chair to permit her to stretch out a hand and touch his, "I know how you feel But give me time. The miracle is that we've found each other, not that it's going to take time to work it all out. If we'd been free when we first met, if there'd been no Merle and no Larry, we might—you and I—" she paused, looked at the now fiercely blazing coals

"When you talk like that, when you say things like that you just said at the end of dinner," Chris said, "then I think that you do love me, and I'm all smoothed down, and I'll wait as long as you make me wait! Only I do want to—to belong, somehow, and to have you belong to me. And your life seems so damn complete without me!"

"But it isn't. Sometimes I think that it's you that makes it so thrilling," she said "Your coming and letters and presents make it seem like a part I'm playing My own life never seemed so exciting, and that's because of you!"

"If I could have you," Chris said gathering her hands tightly in his, leaning far back in his chair with his eyes closed, "if you were once mine, the Larry question settled once and for all everyone knowing, the world all shut away, and you in my arms! Sleeping," he said in a whisper "with your head on my shoulder, and waking to know that you were still there Talking, planning, making friends—always together!"

"And why can't you believe that it will come out that way?"

"Oh, I don't know. I suppose because I want you so much! You see, I'll go away in a little while," he said, "and drive to Del Monte and for the first few miles I'll be quite happy remembering you—you up at the mill with the children today, and you putting a bandage around little Jean's finger, and you setting the table and lighting the candles and kneeling here before the fireplace with your face turned over your shoulder to look up at me, with the red light all over your hair But then in half an hour I'll begin wanting to see you again, just for five minutes—one minute I'll look at all the gas stations I pass and think, 'There's a telephone there; I could hear her voice I could ask her if she's all right and hear her say, "Of course I am! I was reading in bed!"'

"And you think any woman alive is worth that?"

"I think one is" He gripped her chin with his fine, thin, nervous fingers and raised her face, and they kissed each other

Co-eds Ration Dates During Man Shortage

BERKELEY, Cal —(U P)—With male escorts as scarce as rib roasts and new tires, as a result of the war, University of California students decided to do something about it—something involving a ration book.

All deferred male students have registered with the "War Manpower Rationing Board" and the girls take over from there

With 48 points per month per girl, points are subtracted from the ration book for each man she sits next to in class, each man who serves her meals, each man who lives in the house next door. The theory is that even if the girl does not manage to get a date out of every man she meets, she at least has the opportunity to try. Therefore, she must give up her points.

When the 48 points have been used up, the girl becomes "dateless" for the rest of the month She's had her turn.

The rationing system is supposed to give all girls an equal share of the men Dancing eyes and a cute figure are superseded in importance by the points in the ration book

Girls who go steady are considered hoarders, and black markets of men imported from off-campus will be ruthlessly abolished

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1943.

Awkward situation, when you have money enough to build a house but can't get the materials.

The government "forgives" part of the 1942 income taxes—but it will not forget that the next payment becomes due June 15.

Now that the fourth term idea has been at least partially accepted—as an emergency measure, of course—why not put the job under civil service and make it life tenure?

Anti-Strike Law Gains Favor

APPEARANCE of administration support of anti-strike legislation marks such a distinct change from the Roosevelt policy of opposing enactment of any laws designed to curb bad practices of some labor organizations that the outcome in congress will hold much public interest during this week and next—with June 20 set by John L. Lewis as the third deadline, beyond which he will not permit miners to work unless the government agrees to his terms.

The danger now is, with congressional and public indignation aroused to a high pitch, that legislation may be more drastic than is justified, or necessary.

The inclination of congressmen, senators and other politically-minded elective officials, has been to cater too much to aggressive minority pressure groups and this attitude has been responsible for extreme tolerance in all matters involving organized labor, which has sought and been granted privileges withheld from the majority of Americans, who are outside the ranks of union labor.

Whatever may become post-war policies of government, and of labor union themselves, in the elimination of racketeering, graft and strike violence from some branches of organized labor which reflect discreditably and unfairly on well-conducted unions, the immediate problem is to formulate and quickly pass a law that will prevent, or properly punish, any acts by labor leaders which in any way hamper the national war effort.

The coal strike, now temporarily halted, and other strikes which retard production in war industries, serve as direct aid to the enemy—and cannot be tolerated at a time when American boys are fighting and dying on battle fronts.

Chinese Overcome Great Odds

THE CHINESE again have proved their military quality and their value as allies, in their great victory on the Yangtze river. There is no question of their morale. When they have failed to hold their own against the invading Japanese, it has always been for lack of war materials and food supplies. Give them even what Americans used to call a "Chinaman's chance," and they will stand firm and push back the Japanese invaders. Naturally they fight still better with American help, because such participation brings reassurance, human and military, from the nation they admire most.

It is mainly a matter of airplanes in China. Until lately the Chinese troops have been terribly handicapped, and were killed in great numbers by low-flying Japanese strafers. They themselves make better flyers than the Japs. With more planes, more guns, more bombs and a more liberal sprinkling of American flyers and "token troops," there need be no question of the outcome.

Young Children Need Their Mothers

THERE has been long enough time and enough variety of experience to give basis for sound conclusions, with the result that all hands now seem agreed that the place for mothers of small children is in the home. Necessary absenteeism while Johnny has the measles and Susan has to be taken shopping is bad for the plant. It slows production and offers precedent for other workers to stay out for lesser causes. It is also bad for the children to be without proper supervision—and not in any minor sense, but perilous to health, morals, education and future normal life.

The answer seems to be in Grandma. The woman of forty to sixty, vigorous, balanced, experienced in the ways of life and work, is an ideal factory worker. Mothers, while children are young, have a duty which cannot be delegated. A little recreation and freedom are necessary for them, but regular jobs outside are bad from every point of view.

Guerrilla Warfare Against Axis

GUERRILLAS have not had a very good name in history. They have tended to prey on innocent people, and leave the scene when there was real fighting to be done.

To Americans the name is apt to suggest the so-called "bushwhackers" of the Civil war. These were armed bodies operating independently of the regular forces, and held in check only by their own leaders. They levied on farmers for food and lodging, and carried off anything portable. Despite their claims to be aiding the Federal or Confederate cause, they were not far removed from bandits.

Occupied Europe is likely to see a revival of guerrilla warfare as the Nazi fortunes go down. Yugoslavia has already done so. In this case the guerrillas are the only organized forces to fight the Axis. By general account they have refrained from the evils which made the bushwhackers notorious. With help from the United Nations they can grow into regular armies, and add luster to a name of doubtful prestige.

Scarcity of Millionaires

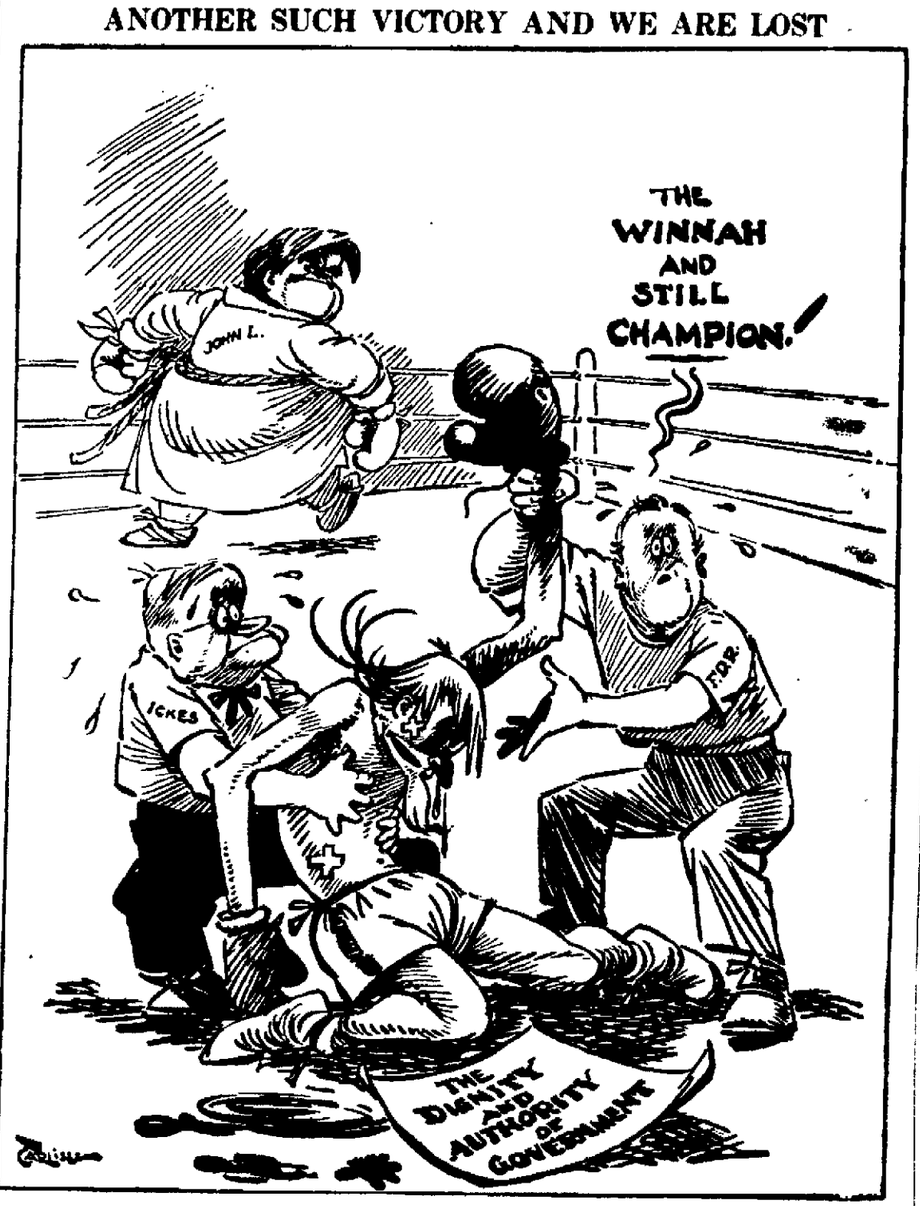
LARGE INCOMES are not envied lately so much as they were in the days of Andrew Carnegie and the elder John D. Rockefeller. Millionaires become fewer, even in a time when immense profits are made by big business men. It is being said that, in spite of the apparent war opportunities for making money, no more millionaires are being produced.

The money is "made," but it doesn't do the makers much good. Income taxes rise so sharply in the upper brackets that three-fourths of a big business man's earnings go to the government. The captains of industry and finance are now "working for Uncle Sam" more than they are for themselves.

From present indications this situation will continue, and from it come notable changes in the American way of life and the relation of classes to each other. Workmen's wages rise as business incomes fall. Economic extremes come closer together and aristocracy wanes as democracy waxes.

So little has been heard of Laval lately that some people express fear nothing has happened to him.

ANOTHER SUCH VICTORY AND WE ARE LOST



Plan to Build Roads After War

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — There's so much talk of post-war planning these days, it's hard to see the war through the clouds over the future.

But don't get me wrong. The lack of post-war planning has been the prelude to more wars and more economic disasters than all other factors combined. The trouble is that most outlines for peace are nebulous ideologies which are not backed up by hard-headed, two-fisted, practical blueprints.

Wilson's 14 Points, President Roosevelt's Four Freedoms, the Atlantic Charter — with its Pacific extensions and the Good Neighbor Policy—are wonderful moons to shoot at, if somebody back home is building the rocket ships that will get us there.

That's why I want to tell you about a little movement starting here in Washington today. At the moment, it doesn't amount to much. In the scheme of things to come for a U. S. A. at peace, it may amount to a whole lot.

THE movement is simply one to save our present federal-aid highway system and to blueprint a network of shuttle roads between traffic centers that will take care of every center of traffic congestion from Four Corners on market day to New York on Sunday night.

Just getting established in Washington now is the Automobile Safety Foundation, headed by Pyke Johnson. Surrounding it are the federal road agencies, certain sympathetic highway leaders in congress, the American Association of State Highway Officials, the American Automobile Association and several other road groups. On Johnson's staff is S. Donald Kennedy, former Michigan highway commissioner, who will devote his full time to the future modernization of the nation's highways and the elimination of traffic snarls.

THEIR immediate objective is passage of legislation now pending to provide that federal funds already authorized, but which the states have been unable to absorb because of material and manpower shortages, shall remain available to the states when peace comes. By June 30, that will amount to something like $475,000,000 — which will build a heap of highway, especially when augmented by state funds. By the time this war is over, it probably would amount to the greatest road-building project ever.

These fellows snort at the idea of trans-continental super-highways, with six or eight lanes and a toll gate at every turn-off or cut-in. They knock you down with such statistics as this: there are no more than 300 cars a day crossing the continent; and 85 per cent of all traffic is confined to the so-called "metropolitan" centers.

Congressional highway experts think that of all the post-war planners, the road men are closest to being on the peacetime beam. Maybe they are right. It's the same gang that got America "out of the mud" 40 years ago.

One Man's Opinion

Here is a 19-or-20-year-old "war worker" wheeling by in a shiny '42 Packard roadster complete with "B" sticker and two dames.

Our Holy Grail

OF THE HORROR which preceded the surrender of Corregidor a year ago, and the fury, pity and grief which must have filled General MacArthur's heart as he pleaded for relief for his men, we have heard much. But nothing which anyone has said can touch the nobility of MacArthur's own commemoration of that dark Gethsemane. You know the words.

"Corregidor surrendered a full year ago," he wrote. "Intrinsically, it is but a barren, war-worn rock, hallowed as so many other places by death and disaster. Yet it symbolizes within itself that priceless, deathless thing—the honor of a nation. Until we lift our flag from its dust, we stand unredeemed before mankind. Until we claim again the ghastly remnants of its last, gaunt horizon, we can but stand as humble applicants before almighty God."

"THERE LIES OUR HOLY GRAIL."

There is General MacArthur's salute to Corregidor's courage—to humanity's greatest test and hope. For those few words hold far more than a symbolic incident in human history. They hold more than our own cruel trial — our battle for human liberty. They hold the long and blood-stained record of man's fight against the night—of God's firm grip upon his fumbling hands.

"THE HOLY GRAIL." Do you remember when we heard that great name first in school, or some brave version of King Arthur and his Knights? It goes far back, that story which is poem and sanctuary, history and prayer. But, at the core, it always is the same.

The Grail, they said, that was the sacred Cup from which the Saviour drank His last Passover wine. The Grail had held the blood He spilled for all of us that we, who drank thereafter, might be clean of sin. But what had happened to the Cup when that dark day was done? No one could tell. So, with the years, men wove a mystic tale. They said that heathen hands now held the Holy Grail and those who loved the Christ and followed on His trail, must win it back.

More years had passed. Then, when the time was ripe, men set forth on crusades, across the nameless seas, the forests and the desert sands. Not only kings and princes, knights and shackled slaves, but little children, also, went to search and save the Cup that Christ had blessed. And, with each day, the lovely story grew until all men believed it to be true.

"FOR EACH MAN KNEW
"THAT LIFE IS ONE. LONG TRAIL
"WHERE WE MAY SEARCH AND SERVE
"AND SAVE
"THE HOLY GRAIL."
"THERE LIES OUR HOLY GRAIL," said General MacArthur. But he did not speak of one certain symbol, one certain shrine or vow. He spoke of that love of Courage, Truth, Liberty and Justice, which lies enshrined in every man's heart, from the most ignorant savage to the most enlightened philosopher. He spoke of that dream which we all call God, whatever our color or our creed.

A year ago, the Big Rock fell. It's starving men and women had surrendered. But Truth can never be Taken, Honor and Freedom, Love and Sacrifice — these will never surrender.

"I WILL COME BACK!" General MacArthur had said. And he will come. As always men return to shrines which they have built . . . to Visions they have seen.

"THERE LIES OUR HOLY GRAIL!" Not in one certain place . . . not in one certain heart . . . but in each fumbling hand that, reaching out, keeps Faith with God.

Memo to the President.

If plans for a meeting with Stalin go through, we hope you will exercise every precaution to guard your personal safety to and from and during the conference. The same extreme care should be employed to protect Stalin, Churchill and Chiang Kai-shek. We appreciate your flair for the spectacular but foolhardiness is unwise.

The enemy fliers who shot down the Lisbon-London plane carrying Leslie Howard thought they were getting Churchill. Nazi aircraft were concentrated over the airliner's route, just for that purpose. The meeting of the four Allied leaders will provide an even greater prize for the enemy.

Americans enjoy the democratic privilege of taking verbal potshots in your direction when we disagree with you, but we don't want any Germans or Japs shooting at you with lead. — Akron Beacon Journal.

Ration Troubles at White House Capably Handled by Mrs. Nesbit

WASHINGTON—One of the most significant and frequent questions asked of Vice President Wallace on his recent trip through Latin America was: "What will happen to the Good Neighbor policy after President Roosevelt leaves office?"

Time after time he was asked: "Will you continue to be Good Neighbors when a Republican administration comes into power?"

His reply was always the same "President Hoover," he said, "was the first president of the United States to come to Latin America and he was a Republican. I am sure that Republicans feel just as deeply the importance of being Good Neighbors as do Democrats."

* * *

White House Rationing.

MRS. HENRIETTA NESBIT has just got through with the task of stretching her ration points to feed, in one month, four presidents and a prime minister, with a return engagement of Madame Chiang Kai-shek thrown in for good measure.

"It was a struggle" she says. "I had to squeeze like anything."

The ration board failed to reckon with all these presidents when it issued points to Mrs. Nesbit, White House-keeper. It reckoned on only one—Franklin D. Roosevelt and his family, plus the Hopkinses, with a meager allowance for entertainment.

The ration board wrote down the White House as an "institution," and dealt with it like a hospital, a hotel, or an asylum. That meant Mrs. Nesbit was issued ration points on the basis of December's "business." But the White House had little "business" in the month of December, for there were few visitors and few parties.

Result is that when May came along, bringing the presidents of Bolivia, Czechoslovakia, and Liberia, plus the prime minister of Great Britain, plus a repeat visit by Madame Chiang, Mrs. Nesbit simply didn't have enough ration points to go around.

No More Ration Points.

AND the amazing thing is that instead of running to the ration board for extra points—and no one would have blamed her for that—she "just managed somehow." She managed by bearing down hard on the poultry and fish, as any housewife does these days, and by saving as many beef points as possible to serve to the prime minister's party—"because everybody knows the British like beef, and they don't get much of it at home these days."

Now that it's all over, Mrs. Nesbit has two sets of books to balance—the money books and the ration books. It's a double banking job, for her ration points are not drawn by tearing coupons out of a ration book, but by drawing checks on her ration account at the bank, as any other "institution" must do. And this bank account must balance, together with the financial account.

There's a further complication in the fact that when a member of the White House family—Mrs. Roosevelt, for example—goes away for more than seven meals in the week, she has to be checked out of the ration banking and to be given an individual ration book. Then when she returns, the book is surrendered to Mrs. Nesbit, and Mrs. Roosevelt joins the "institution" again.

But there is some comfort in the fact that, though they must be tired of chicken and fish by now, nobody "upstairs" has complained.

Even chicken is difficult to get. Mrs. Nesbit finds you can't wait until the day you need it and expect to get an order filled. It takes planning days in advance. And you have to take the fish when you get it, for fish of good size, such as halibut or salmon, comes from New England or the west coast, and can't be had every day.

Week-Old Ice Cream.

TO BE sure of having ice cream for any occasion, Mrs. Nesbit keeps a few gallons on hand. Refrigeration in the White House kitchen makes it possible to keep ice cream for a week, or even two weeks if necessary.

And if ice cream can't be bought, she can always get cream—though not whipping cream—and make the ice cream at home.

It's also a good thing to keep a back log of sugar to meet a sudden demand for punch for a garden party. But there is where Mrs. Nesbit made a mistake. Before sugar rationing, she had a supply of 300 pounds on hand, and decided to be virtuous and turn it in. Later she had urgent need of it.

"Sometimes when I get in a jam, I wish I hadn't been so noble," she says.

Well, the month of May is over, and the parade of presidents has lessened. But June is here, and before Mrs. Nesbit has fair time to balance her books, along comes the president of Paraguay, to be followed by the president of Chile.

And who knows, maybe that man Stalin will pop in any day!

Merry-Go-Round.

Patches of paint are peeling off the White House. . . . Because of the war the Executive Mansion has not been painted for some time. . . . Vice President Wallace picked the hottest day of the spring to open his private tennis season, playing with his sister, wife of the Swiss minister. . . . Hard-working Representative Francis Case of South Dakota reads and digests every bill that is introduced in the house. . . . Senator Jim Mead of New York and his office staff have gone on a seven-day week for the duration. . . . The election of Gerard Dobbin, secretary of Representative Albert Engel of Michigan, as president of the Congressional Secretaries' club made a bit hit with Capitol newsmen. They consider Dobbin one of the topnotch aides in congress.

ERNIE PYLE

Roving Reporter

Ernie Tells About "Funniest Incident," But It Didn't Seem Funny at the Time.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa—(By Wireless)—To me the funniest incident of the Tunisian campaign was the following:

Back in January and February the headquarters of the Second Corps were in a deep ravine some six miles the other side of Tebessa. Wooded mountains rose on each side quite steeply, and the bottom of the gulch was well coated with trees.

The corps was down there in numerous tents, but it was decided to tunnel big shelters into the mountainsides for offices just in case of dive-bombings. So soldiers were set to tunneling.

It was a major mining job, for they had to bore through solid rock, using air drills and dynamite. They worked in shifts, 24 hours a day. The blasted-out rock was hauled away in trucks.

They bored four great tunnels into the mountainside, each one as wide as an automobile and some 50 yards long. At the back end they connected all four tunnels into one huge room, forming unquestionably the biggest and finest air-raid shelter in the continent of Africa.

It took three solid weeks to build it. And the very day it was finished the Germans broke through Faid Pass and pushed us back through Kasserine, and the corps had to move in a hurry. The gorgeous tunnels, all finished and beautiful, were never occupied even for an hour.

* * *

THEY tell an anecdote about a soldier on guard duty in the front lines one night, for the first time, who heard a strange noise, fired at it, and then called out, "Who went there?"

THE ENGINEERS who built those marvelous temporary steel bridges, strong enough to hold up tanks, over the Tunisian rivers after the Germans had destroyed the original bridges certainly are due a lot of credit.

Perhaps the biggest satisfaction they got out of their work was naming the bridges after they had finished them. They nearly always painted a name on signboards and staked one at each end of the bridge. You could tell one outfit was from New York, for you crossed a whole string of bridges named "Manhattan," "Brooklyn," "Queensborough" and so on. But the one that tickled me most was a big one at Mateur which bore a sign with large black letters: "Huey P. Long Bridge."

LAST DECEMBER when I left Oran I bundled up a canvas bag full of odds and ends that I didn't want to carry to the front, and left it at one of the army offices for picking up at some future date. Months went by, and I never got back to Oran.

I inquired about the bag a couple of times from travelers who had come from that office, and they reported it was still there. And then just the other day came a letter from Washington saying that a mysterious bag, sent by me and addressed to me, had arrived in America. They described the bag, and it without doubt my Oran storage bundle. Apparently somebody just got tired of seeing it around and decided to get it far out of sight.

I can't remember what was in the bag, except for two items: (1) the only dress uniform I've got, and (2) a pound box of cube sugar I brought with me from America a year ago. I don't need the sugar, as the army has plenty, and I've never had the dress uniform on since the night I left London last fall.

But now that it's 4,000 miles away I suppose some general will be inviting me out to dinner and I'll have to go in coveralls. While we're supposing, suppose we suppose it's General Eisenhower himself, just to make it good.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, June 7, 1923.

Germany made new offer for payment of reparations but France immediately expressed dissatisfaction.

It was announced that the price of artificial ice would not be increased in Mansfield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Snapp went to Toledo to attend state convention of United Commercial Travelers.

Miss Katherine Koller, student at Wittenberg, was elected "flash editor" of college newspaper.

Israel H. Kanaga, 94, pioneer resident of county, died at his home in Butler.

Miss Sadie E. Rantz and Herbert L. Lehnhart were married by Rev. Henry C. Roehner.

Phoenix A. C. boxers started outdoor training in Liberty airdrome, rear 111 North Main street.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Daniel Boone and five other hunters were the first white men to reach Kentucky, on June 7, 1769. And it was on this date in 1905 that Norway dissolved its union with Sweden.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Rainy Weather

TEN DAYS ago we thought the rain was over. It wasn't. Every day it poured, sometimes morning, noon and night. Fog, in dainty clouds moved upward from the hollows of the wooded hills; clouds hung low; only rarely the sun shone.

My feet sloshed on the grassy lawn, where water stood about the thick grass roots. Fishing worms, by thousands came upward from flooded burrows only to drown where pools covered long areas.

Our spring flowed fast and gurgled loudly as it hurried over a rough stony bed to the pond below. The calamus swamp was a spread of slowly moving water. Swallows skimmed swiftly along the watery brink; the king rail called regretfully, as though her home beneath some grassy tuft was gone, and her young had perished. A shitepoke perched in the willow that trails its branches into the stream and a king fisher gave forth his hollow rattle from a post overlooking the clearing surface of the pond. Frogs croaked in lusty chorus from the low ground and in the crotches of tall maples and the woods beyond the slope, tree toads sang unceasingly.

Oats fields planted weeks ago are streaked with gullies. Water coursed down from the hillsides and fanned out on the highway, a deep coat of sticky clay.

The sixth of June finds more than half the farmers' fields yet to plant in corn. Last Sunday my nearest neighbor's land was just right to cultivate. Early I saw him bring a tractor and a heavy disk. In another hour, two tractors were moving rapidly up and down the long field. By late afternoon the land was almost ready for the planter. But even before the tractor and disks had edged along the finishing round, a heavy shower rolled from the west and drenched the drivers. Long ponds still stand on the low middle of the field.

From now on, every farmer who plants corn must gamble on the possibility of an early frost—to kill the plants before the grain has hardened, and fully matured. Those who finished planting have the worry that their seed will rot. Replanting is not a very successful or economical solution to the problem.

I am still planning to plant a small field of corn — and take my chances.
